PA NEWC OBSERVES

In case you don't know it, there was quite a heavy rain during the night, and it also lightninged a little. The streets looked clean and fresh this morning.

Golf fans are still inhabiting the Municipal Course, which is in exceptionally fine condition, Pa Newc finds. Golf will be permitted as long as the weather is favorable, it is said, but that won't be long, now.

Pa Newc wonders why people have to be asked personally by a solicitor to make a donation to something that is worthwhile, when they know it is their duty and that they are going to be approached sooner or later. The Mayor's Relief Fund is the most worthy project for which funds have ever been solicited here, yet many people are putting off giving, just waiting for someone to solicit them.

Speaking of snakes, Pa Newc observes that someone killed a garter snake on Blaine street, between Park and Lincoln the other day.

When three automobiles stage a race up Highland avenue, and travel up the hill abreast, it doesn't give a motorist coming down the hill much chance, yet Pa Newc observed just such a foolish episode about 10 o'clock last night.

Then again regarding careless motorists. Another driver had his car parked almost in the middle of Falls street at the intersection of North, with the hood raised, and left it stand there for some little time while he had oil put in. It would have been just as easy to have pulled off to the side of the street.

Pa Newc observed a man engaged in religious work in the city move

Funerals End Triple Tragedy

Man Who Killed Denison, Ohio, Couple, Ends Own Life Later

LOVE AND SCORN BEHIND SLAYINGS

(International News Service)

DENISON, O., Nov. 20.—Final chapter in a tale of passionate love and scorn will be written here today and tomorrow when funeral services are held for Thomas Wheeler, 34-year-old railroader, who shot and killed the woman he loved and lost, her husband, then turned a gun on himself and died by his own hand.

Repulsed in life by Mrs. Blanche Scheideger, 34, who with her husband, Russell, 35, fell victim to a blast of shotgun slugs from Wheeler's gun, Wheeler will be joined with her, figuratively, when the three bodies are laid to rest. For the three victims of unreasoning jealousy and burning hate will all be buried in Union cemetery at Uhrichsville, "twin city" of Denison.

Double Funeral Saturday.

Funeral services for Wheeler will be held this afternoon from the home of Mrs. James Jyson, a sister, at New Philadelphia, north of here.

Services for Scheideger and his wife will be held here tomorrow afternoon.

Scheideger and his wife were shot down at a street intersection near their home here as they returned from a theater with their son Russell, Jr., 12.

They were accosted by Wheeler, who was a lodger at the Scheideger

Two Arrested At Lottery Printing Plant At Ephrata

Third Man Sought On Warrant —Three Held As Material Witnesses Result Of Raid

(International News Service)

EPHRATA, Pa., Nov. 20.—Two men were under arrest today, a warrant had been issued for a third, and three other men were being detained as material witnesses as the result of a state police raid on a printing plant here and the confiscation of 2,000,000 lottery tickets and printing equipment.

George Klinefelter, 45, and Roland Garver, alleged proprietors of the Keystone Sales company, were charged with manufacture and possession of lottery tickets. A warrant on the same charges was issued for the arrest of William Shimp, proprietor of a poolroom in the same building where the raid was made.

COUNTRY OVER "HYSTERICS" SAYS BUSINESS LEADER

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 20.—An optimistic note in business recovery was sounded here today as representative leaders from every major branch of America gathered for the annual meeting of officers and directors of the National Chamber of Commerce.

Silas H. Strawn, Chicago, president, said he believed the country "was over its hysterics" and that the thing needed most now was confidence in the American business and financial structure.

"And I think we have it," he declared.

Strawn said that before perfect stability can be secured in America, there must be political and financial stability in Europe.

Nearly $300,000 Will Be Distributed Soon In Christmas Funds

Nearly $300,000 in money will be distributed here early in December when the Christmas savings funds of the various New Castle banks handling this feature will be mailed to depositors. While the amount, $273,000, is under the total of other years, it is felt that this amount is a splendid showing. The list of amounts for each bank follows:

Lawrence Savings & Trust	$125,000
Union Trust Company	50,000
Peoples Savings & Trust Co.	35,000
Union National Bank	25,000
Dollar Savings Association	23,000
Mahoning Trust Co.	15,000
	$273,000

This amount is only approximate. The total will not be under it, but it may be over it. The books for Christmas savings funds close this week and the checks will be made out between the beginning of next week and the early part of December.

This flood of gold turned into the channels of business will undoubtedly aid the merchants. It will mean ready cash and a turnover of stock, it will mean the payment of many bills, through the constant exchange of the money and will result in benefit directly or indirectly for every person in the city.

MUKDEN, Nov. 20—Henry Pu-Yi former 'boy emperor of China, was forced to flee today from Tangkantze Hot Springs when a mob of mounted Chinese bandits invaded the resort and terrorized the inhabitants.

Japanese military headquarters here learned that 140 bandits descended on Tangkantze, and that Pu-Yi fearing for his life, fled hurriedly to Dairen.

Pu-Yi, who had been living in Tientsin under Japanese protection, came to Manchuria last week in connection with a movement to make him emperor of Manchuria The plans did not materialize as scheduled, but Pu-Yi's supporters have grown more confident, since the fall of Tsitsihar, that the Manchu dynasty may be restored.

Release Doctor On Bail; Fights Poison Charges

PEKIN, Ill., Nov. 20.—The confidence of townspeople in their country doctor was graphically exemplified today in the court records of Tazewell county.

Because of this confidence inspired by 23 years of practice in the little town of Emden, Dr. B. M. Barringer was out of jail on $10,000 bonds and was afforded the opportunity of preparing his defense against the charges of Mrs. Alice Mason, 50-year-old widow, that he aided her in the arsenic poison murders of her husband and her 12-year-old-daughter.

The $10,000 required to release the 64-year-old physician from jail was publicly raised by leading citizens and officials of Emden who flocked here to attend a hearing in Judge Joseph E. Dailey's circuit court. The bond money was presented in court and Judge Dailey ordered Dr. Barringer's release.

In her statement to the authorities, Mrs. Mason had declared that Dr. Barringer supplied her with the arsenic used in poisoning her husband, John, and her daughter, Mildred. She also accused the physician of sharing with her the $2,000 derived from insurance policies on the lives of her victims.

On the theory that Mrs. Mason might be trying to shield another accomplice, officials today began questioning friends of the woman. Clinton Aramstrong, 45, said to be Mrs. Mason's admirer, was rearrested last night and subjected to an intense grilling.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—A Chinese wall of New York bluecoats kept off the shadow of a threatened anti-fascist demonstration from Signor Dino Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, who dropped into town today to receive the official greetings of the city in a gala ceremony.

SECOND WOMAN TO SIT IN SENATE

MRS. FELTON | MRS. CARAWAY

When Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of the late senator from Arkansas, goes to the senate to occupy her husband's seat Dec. 7, until a special election is held in Arkansas in January, she will be the second woman to sit with that august body. The late Mrs. Rebecca Felton, left, a Georgia octogenarian, was the first, but she held office only two days. Mrs. Caraway probably will be nominated and elected to complete her husband's term (1933), in addition to serving until the special election, but she has announced that she will not serve beyond 1933.

Rumor Court House Personnel Is Facing Shake-Up In January

New Board Is Reported As Figuring On Changes In Appointments

Names Of Several Are Mentioned As Likely To Get Places

Political circles are buzzing with speculation over the probable personnel of various offices at the court house affected by the recent election. There are various rumors afloat, all of them awaiting confirmation, but nevertheless being quite generally discussed. They indicate a shake-up in the court house personnel after the first of the year.

Principal interest appears to center in the appointments to be made by the county commissioners. The members who will comprise the new board to be sworn in at the beginning of the year, include the present county commissioner, P. O. Elder, Elmer Connors and Franklin R. Woods. The two first mentioned were elected on the Republican ticket, and Woods on an independent ticket.

Commissioners Clerk

The principal place to be filled in the county commissioners office is that of clerk. Quite a number of possibilities are being mentioned, among them being the present incumbent, W. A. Eakin, F. E. Brenneman, Harry M. Long, C. C. Harry, James Moorhead, Councilman W. T.

"Joe" Armstrong Taken By Death At Pittsburgh

Sixty-Four Year Old County Commissioner And Political Veteran Dies

DEATH COMES ON VERGE OF COMA

All Pittsburgh Mourns For Man Who Aided In City And County Development

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—All Pittsburgh and Allegheny county, and political friends throughout the state, today mourned the death of Joseph G. Armstrong, 64-year old battle scarred political veteran, and chairman of the Board of County Commissioners who lost a valiant battle with death.

Armstrong died at his home here late last night of diabetes and bronchial pneumonia, after having staged a gallant comeback from death's door to raise the hopes of his doctors and family that he would survive his maladies.

The gray-haired Allegheny county political leader succumbed while physicians and a police squad administered oxygen in a last frantic effort to prolong his life.

Family At Bedside

A sharp change in the gaunt veteran's pulse rate, which had dropped yesterday, brought an alarm from the nurse in attendance and the members of his family were at the bedside when the end came at 10:30 p. m.

The brief rally staged by Armstrong faded earlier in the night when Dr. C. B. Schildecker, Armstrong's physician, indicated that the end was near.

Miss Amelia Koch, the nurse, summoned Dr. Schildecker and an inhalator squad who hurried to the Armstrong residence. But it was too late to stave off death and the veteran political leader, on the verge of coma, passed quietly away.

Immediately that new of the death of the "old gray mare" became known, a crowd of neighbors and

School House Is Destroyed By Incendiary

Dewberry School Building In Mahoning Township Burned Last Night

SECOND TIME THAT BUILDING WAS FIRED

Farmers Gather To Battle Fire But Lack Of Water Prevents Success

Dewberry school in Mahoning township with contents was completely destroyed by an incendiary fire, which started shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday evening. Farmers, attracted by the blaze, made a desperate effort to save the building, but lack of water and fire fighting facilities, rendered their efforts useless. The building was a frame structure. Loss is estimated at about $2,000.

This was the second incendiary fire at the building within a short time. About a month ago it was fired from the outside, but the blaze was extinguished with a loss of around $200. The building had been repaired; immediately after the former fire.

The school, which had an enrollment of 27 pupils, according to County Superintendent, John C. Syling, was taught by Miss Esther Giles, of 116 Euclid avenue, this city.

Set On Fire

The fire last night was started at about the same place as the other fire. This fact would indicate that it had been set on fire by the same person. What the object may have been, is not known.

George Barker, supervising principal of the Mahoning township schools, announces that a special meeting of the school board has been

Railroad Worker Killed By Auto

Thomas A. Powers, 38, Killed At Erie, When Hit By Automobile

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Injured when he was struck by an automobile about midnight last night, Thomas A. Powers, 38, New York Central railroad switchman, died in Erie hospital today. He was the 50th victim of motor accidents in Erie county since January 1, 1931.

Police held Joseph Sperl, 28, driver of the car, pending the outcome of an investigation by Coroner Daniel S. Hanley. Sperl told authorities the accident was unavoidable and that Powers stepped into the path of his car before he could apply the brakes.

Arthur Mometer

Each of us has his inhibitions, each of us longs for somethings we're denied, all of us want to do things interesting, most of them thoughts, but not often are tried. One would go traipsing to isles in the ocean, others would live in a mountainous cave, neither are done for old man Inhibition has us tied up, as his unwilling slave. There's things I would do, if I flaunted opinion, things I would wear such as trick looking hats, but most of all I have had longings to blossom out with a cane and a hot pair of spats. Public opinion would laugh at my folly, hence that's the reason I'm not garbed that way, old inhibition has wrecked my desire, weather's like spring, sixty seven today.

Pathetic Cases Show Pressing Need For Mayor's Relief Funds

Apparently the citizens of New Castle are still in a state of lethargy as far as the Mayor's Relief Fund is concerned, as but two small subscriptions have been reported during the last twenty-four hours.

In the meantime, local welfare workers are uncovering many more pitiable cases.

Only today, a case was brought to light of a family living in a fairly good section of the city, who were found cooking what little food they could scrape together on an open fire in their backyard. Their stove had worn out and they were unable to obtain another. The case was investigated by the Red Cross.

Through the kindly interest of the Red Cross, Associated Charities, Rescue Mission and County Welfare Department, they were rehabilitated and placed on their feet again.

The Rescue Mission secured a stove for the family, and stove pipe for it was furnished and the stove installed in the family's kitchen. The family was outfitted with needed clothing by the Associated Charities, and groceries were furnished by the county welfare department. This is only one of many such cases brought to light each day.

Perhaps the reader may ask, "Where does the Mayor's Relief Committee come in?"

The answer is simply this, that the funds of the County Welfare Department, and these various organizations is not adequate to go around. To take care of the demand for relief the county is spending approximately $400 per day, and giving barely enough at that to keep body and soul together for those who are in want. The same is true of these other organizations.

The Mayor's Relief committee takes care of the actual want. Reliable estimates show that probably 1250 families may have to be aided, and the Mayor's Relief committee will be able to furnish only about a dollar's worth of assistance a week, but it will keep many families from actual starvation.

If you have not already made your subscription to the Mayor's Relief committee set down and write out your check now and mail or bring it to City Treasurer L. W. McClung, treasurer of the fund.

I agree to pay the sum of.....dollars monthly on the first of each month for as many months as funds are needed by the Mayor's Relief Committee and will forward my remittances to L. W. McClung, Treasurer.

Railway Express Clerk Believed Suicide Victim

Find Dead Body Of Railway Clerk In Sealed Express Car At Wooster

ROBBERY THEORY IS DISCARDED

(International News Service)

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 20.—Circumstances in the death of J. B. Smith, 53, American Railway Express clerk, who is believed to have committed suicide while riding alone in a sealed express car of a Pennsylvania train, were to be investigated by Coroner J. B. Patterson today.

Smith was found shot to death in the car when the train, running between Mansfield and Alliance, arrived here last night. The body was discovered lying on the floor of the car with Smith's automatic pistol, containing two discharged cartridges, lying beside it.

Suspecting the possibility that Smith had been slain in a train robbery, railroad officials notified police chief Henry Leiner of Wooster. A careful investigation, however, revealed that nothing was missing from the car, it was said.

Smith had been sealed in the car when the train left Mansfield and railroad employes broke the seal here to take off the baggage consigned to Wooster. Informed that Smith had been in ill health for several months, Coroner Patterson expressed the opinion that it was a suicide, pending a thorough investigation.

WEST JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT AT MORGANTOWN

See Second Trial

Thus it appeared that all the sordid detailse already related from the witness stand by the now famed three "peeping janitors" would have to be repeated at a second trial.

Dr. West and the chief of his defense counsel, U. S. Senator M. M. Neely, were keenly disappointed at the failure of the jury to reach an agreement. They confidently had expected acquittal.

Miss Esther Williams was the pretty young teacher with whom the prosecution alleged the middle aged principal had been intimate in his private office after school hours. To obtain evidence against West the Superintendent of School, Charles McCorkle, assigned the three janitors to drill a hole in the ceiling of West's office and spy on him.

Conflicting Stories

The janitors, notably the loquacious Percy Smith, averred they saw much, but West and Miss Williams maintained the charges were trumped up and the girl even went so far as to accuse Smith of making the charges because she had repulsed his own advances.

Smith is a married man and Miss Williams claimed he tried to make dates with her. On the day Smith said she and Dr. West used his office for a trysting place, Miss Williams said she and another man teacher drove to Fairmount to attend a theater.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

his automobile forward a few feet so that the chalk mark which Bill Tyrell had placed on the front tire did not show, in order to evade a city parking ordinance.

Motorist, how are your headlights? Many traveling toward this city were stopped on the Youngstown road last night by the Highway Patrol to test the glares.

Three rabbits, with a rope around their ears, hung from the door handle of an automobile on Atlantic avenue the other day, the driver evidently just returning from a few hours hunt.

Try to figure out. Sign on rear of little car parked on South Croton avenue—"Hard Times Ahead."

One man told Pa Newc today that he was certain he heard a robin chirping as he awoke this morning. Well, anyway, it was a morning made for robins whether or not there was one.

Over at the post office, where a buzz of activity will replace the normal state of things within a few weeks, Pa Newc inquired if any early signs of the holidays had been seen. Replied the clerk: "Nothing so far in the mails, but don't rush it—it'll come plenty soon enough."

The Hi-Y organizations of the Y. M. C. A. tried something new yesterday when two of them provided worthy debaters for a student assembly at the George Washington junior high school. Washington's forensic group met Ben Franklin's. They argued the pro and con of the country's jury system.

Never in the life of Pennsylvania railroad men does any more enjoyment come than at the different divisional reunions held yearly, and for the local E. & A. men here that's especially true. Tomorrow, across the dinner table in The Castleton, they'll recount experiences of the long ago in railroading. All will have had 20 years or more railroad life to talk about.

Two or three hunters of the city, during a trip to the local woods this week, have killed snakes, so it's learned.

Over on East North street, a one-wall brick structure that catches the pedestrian's eye is a sample of New Castle-made brick that's going into the government's huge federal penitentiary at Lewisburg. It's a sample of a dozen or so different window types.

There are several gangs of boys than run around the downtown streets at night, that make more noise than any gang of tenement kids we ever heard in New York city. There is certainly need for enforcement of the curfew law in New Castle for a while. Making a playground of the downtown streets is a practice that should be frowned upon.

New Castle council met yesterday as a board of health, a function that rarely ever falls to the duties of the members of the councilmanic body.

Street car operators in this city are developing quite a keen sense of salesmanship, in the matter of selling the weekly passes. Some of the operators can remember most all of the patrons of their runs who use the weekly passes, and they are showing some keen salesmanship in getting the "business" for the company.

Next July is a long distance off, but this morning Pa Newc learned that several Lawrence county Sunday School leaders may attend a world's Sunday School convention in Rio De Janeiro during that month. The plan is to make it one of the largest world Sunday School gatherings ever.

A worthwhile suggestion, perhaps not a new one, was broached by a citizen to Pa New Again today. It concerns parking in the crowded downtown. Should the city proceed with its plan to erect a river bank wall along the Neshannock creek, above the North street bridge, why not build it so that parking space might be available all along Croton avenue, the resident suggested. Cars could be parked lengthwise.

Final arrangements for the City Rescue Mission's community log pile, where needy men might hew wood for their board and keep, are being made this afternoon. A place will soon be designated.

Two small youngsters were enjoying play with a football this morning down the south side up until the ball rolled out in the street. A motorist accidentally ran over the ball which became deflated. The youngsters wore a face of sorrow.

Now that the curbs have been lowered down East Long avenue why doesn't someone try to get the street car tracks on East Long avenue to Hamilton street removed. These tracks are useless since the street car company has discontinued service there.

Burns of this city and Charles H. Bland, of Ellwood City. Other names are casually mentioned, but the greater part of the street talk concerns the persons named. So far no authentic information has been given out as to who will be chosen.

Sealer of Weights

For the position of sealer of sealer of weights and measures, two names are being mentioned, W. A. Brown, the present incumbent, and L. W. Houk, a resident of the east side. It has been the custom for the city and county to unite in the selections of a sealer of weights and measures. The city is said to pay about 82 per cent of the salary of the sealer. The selection has usually been made by the county commissioners and the mayor, the arrangement being made in the nature of an agreement, the mayor having as much choice in the matter as the three county commissioners. Mayor elect Charles B. Mayne will therefore have an equal voice with the commissioners in making the selection.

If they should not agree it would be necessary for the county to have a sealer of weights and measures and the city one. This would undoubtedly increase the expense, as the amount paid by the county at present is not sufficient to maintain a sealer.

Poor Director

Another office to be filled is that of poor director, a position now being held by M. B. Hogue. It is understood that Hogue is likely to retain his position, but according to reports, an assistant may be added, on the theory that the work of investigating the various cases has become too heavy for one man. Connie Wardman of Ellwood City is mentioned in street talk, as a possible assistant.

If an assistant is chosen there is a rumor that the commissioners will leave the office work to the director and his assistant, in place of one of the commissioners remaining in the office. At present Calvin Boyd, one of the commissioners, devotes practically all his time to the poor office. His assistants are Hogue and a lady clerk. Sometimes it has been necessary to employ extra help for a short time in taking care of the investigations.

If the new system is put in force, the commissioner whose place has been in the poor department would move over into the commissioners office, where it would not be near so confining as in the poor department.

In connection with the poor department, it is said that Mr. and Mrs. Perry Snyder, who have charge of the county home, are likely to be retained.

County Solicitor

Another office over which there is speculation is that of county solicitor. Among those heard mentioned are the present incumbent, John P. Lockhart, Orville Brown, Clifford Fenton, and J. Elder Bryan.

For county engineer two names are being mentioned, the present incumbent, T. A. Gilkey and C. H. Milholland, former county engineer.

Very little is being heard about the position of jail physician, which is now being held by Dr. F. E. Eakin but it is said that there will be other applicants for the place.

County Treasurer Elect, William Pitts, has not yet announced the personnel of his office. It is said that his sister, Miss Almira Pitts is likely to be one of the deputies, but there is a lack of gossip on other possibilities.

In the office of Prothonotary R. M. Campbell, there will be no changes.

In relation to the new office of County Controller, persistent rumor has it that Controller-Elect, R. C. McCaslin, will choose A. Scott Kildoo, as deputy controller. It is understood that the county commissioners have a voice in the selections.

It may be that if Mr. McCaslin receives his commission soon that he will run the office himself until the first of the year when the new commissioners come in, but Mr. McCaslin has not given out any information along this line. The suggestion being merely based on rumor.

Immediately after the organization of the new board of commissioners the salary board will convene. The board is composed of the county commissioners and the county treasurer. It is the duty of this board to set the salaries of the various deputies and clerks employed in and about the court house. There is also considerable speculation as to what the board is likely to do in the matter, but no intimation as to what may actually happen.

With activity over the various appointments increasing it is likely that consideration will be given to others whose names have not already been mentioned.

It is also rumored that Mr. Connors will be named as chairman of the commission for the first two years.

U. S. Secret Service men hovered about the Italian foreign minister as he stepped abroad the welcoming craft from New York—The Yacht Macom.

Two police launches escorted the Macom to the battery on the New York side as harbor craft tied down their whistles and fireboats gave their famous water-spiraling exhibition.

home and who, authorities said, was in love with Mrs. Scheideger and pressed his attentions upon her.

Wheeler Suicides.

Repulsed, Wheeler developed a flaming hatred of Scheideger, authorities believe, culminating in the double slaying and his own suicide, after police here and authorities of nearby towns had sought him for more than three hours.

Wheeler, who fled in his automobile after the shooting, was found shot to death in his car on the outskirts of town.

To authorities, Russell, Jr., related how Wheeler had persistently forced himself upon Mrs Scheideger and how his mother had repulsed the lodger.

Both Scheideger and Wheeler were employes of the Pennsylvania railroad and had been considered friends before the events leading up to the tragedy.

CHINESE BANDITS CHASE BOY RULER

A dispatch from Harbin said that 3000 Chinese infantrymen were bombarded at Hailun, 100 miles north of Harbin, in an effort to prevent a concentration of General Ma Chan-Shan's forces at the northern terminus of the Harbin-Hailun railway. The Chinese were believed to have suffered heavy casualties.

As Ma Chan-Shan himself withdrew into the Hailun area, it was thought the troops who were bombed might have been part of the Chinese general's personal forces.

Claims Governorship.

Ma Chan-Shan's plan, according to Harbin advices, was to establish his Heilungkiang government at some point north of Harbin, as he still claims the provincial governorship despite his defeat by the Japanese in their occupation of Anganki and Tsitsihar.

An independent regime has been set up at Tsitsihar, it was understood here, under the leadership of Chan Chin-Hui, the governor of Harbin. He left for Tsitsihar as soon as the city fell to the Japanese, and with the approval of the Japanese military authorities, proclaimed Heilungkiang province independent of the central government of China at Nanking.

friends gathered at the residence. It was silent, scarcely a word was spoken.

Funeral Plans Unmade

A few of the old family friends stood guard to prevent any attempt to enter the home, but there was no attempt, just a hushed quiet, scarcely broken by the noise of passing motor cars.

Funeral arrangements for the veteran leader will be announced later, Louis Beinhauer, funeral director said.

The body will lay in state at the Armstrong residence today, however, and may be viewed after noon, it was announced.

Held By Bandits

J. W. Vinson (above), Amercian missionary of Lexington, Va., is reported to have been captured by Chinese bandits 20 miles southeast of Haichow. Willys R. Peck, consul general in Nanking, has made urgent representations to the foreign office of the Nanking Government—seeking Vinson's release and the punishment of the bandits. Some rumors have it that the missionary has been slain.

Bible Class Pays Fox High Tribute

Nearly 125 Of Baptist Church Group Attend Testimonial Fete

Close to 125 appreciative men of the city, all members of the up-and-doing Men's Bible class attached to the First Baptist church, gave George Clifford Fox, their president, a surprise he'll never forget, last night.

Down into the men's own classroom filed that large number, all unbeknowns to their class president who himself plays a leading part in everything they do. But he knew nothing whatever of this.

Hunted up about the city, Fox, found working was invited to step out to see another lively men's class of the city—so Fox agreed to go along to pick up pointers for his own class. Not until they neared the First Baptist corner did he sense the stunt.

All Set Inside

But inside the men were waiting, enjoying a preliminary program under the direction of W. O. "Red" Williams, just as Fox and his friends neared the door. Words can't describe the reception.

Master of Ceremonies Williams called upon Judge R. L. Hildebrand for the first response, and he paid a high tribute to the class leader for his work. Then came other oral tributes to the class leader for his work. Then came other oral tributes by Paul Weller, superintendent of the school; County Superintendent R. M. Strickler and the congregation's pastor and teacher of the class, the Rev. George M. Landis. Other men spoke.

Special music was furnished by a group of the church choir and a delightful vocal offering of "Roses of Picardy" was given by Miss Bertha Taylor. Miss Olive Fern Sanford accompanied her at the piano. Miss Taylor sang an encore number.

Hess Is Speaker

C. W. Herman Hess, a special guest for the evening was introduced, responding with an impressive message that inculcated new inspiration into the class to "go, glow and grow" in the uplifting work it has started.

The three "kids" of the class, R. D. Amos, aged 81; Frank Milliken, aged 82, and Albert Houk, aged 83 years, always present in the front row on Sunday mornings, were introduced. Houk delighted the audience with two violin numbers.

Just before the honor guest, Mr. Fox, was permitted to respond, Earl Reebel traced his life history humorously to the enjoyment of the class.

Fox's final appreciation was a touching one, and in it he thanked the members for their thoughtful kindness.

Before the social period that followed, when light refreshments were served, the class decided that Sunday, December 20, would be the date when the class attendance will be pushed to 251.

Chairman Williams, who handled the program, contributing fine vocal selections every now and then, was assisted in planning the surprise by Nick Gardner, James Herbert, Ralph Pattison and William Sterling.

Breaks G.O.P. Rule

Michael J. Hart (above), wet Democrat, was the victor in the 8th Michigan Congressional District election just held, thereby shattering a 33-year-old allegiance to the Republican Party. Hart defeated F. O. Eldred, G. O. P. candidate, on an anti-prohibition platrom. Election of Hart further strengthens the Democratic position in the House at Washington.

Edison phonographs. As they entered, a large table covered with a red table cloth, set with dishes from fifty to a hundred years old greeted their eyes. When each had found their place, Mrs. Duff recited a poem that was once popular which told of a party gathering, entitled, "When A Good Old Friend Drops In" that was most appropriate. A menu, that was fitting to the occasion was then served.

Out of town guests who had the pleasure of participating included Mrs. Howard Munnell, of Akron, a former member of the club, whose visit marked the first in ten years with this group, and Mrs. John Butler of Sharon. The Little Girl Who Wouldn't EAT

It's Probably due to stasis

Nature knows best! Never coax a child to eat! Remove the cause of a youngster's poor appetite—get rid of stasis. Children who don't eat are sluggish. Not to correct this is inexcusable. It is so easy to do, if you will only use the "California treatment." Read what it is doing for listless children in every part of the United States!

When appetite fails, tongue is coated white, eyes are a bilious yellow, don't give small children any constipating cathartic that drains the system and weakens twenty feet of tender bowels! California syrup of figs is the only "medicine" they need!

Sluggishness ended in 2 Weeks

That girl or boy with a furry tongue and a bad breath should not be dosed with salts! California syrup of figs will gently stimulate the colon muscles—and the child you used to coax to eat will fairly devour his food, digest it, gain weight.

Start Tonight

Try the California treatment! Begin tonight, with enough of the pure syrup of figs to cleanse the colon thoroughly. Less tomorrow, then every other day, or twice a week until the child's appetite, digestion, weight, complexion, tell you the stasis is gone.

Be sure to get the real California Syrup of Figs. Any druggist has it, all bottled, with directions. It's a natural, vegetable laxative. Just as good for babes of two years as boys of ten. They all love its taste!

NOTICE TO MOTHERS

There are imitations of California Syrup of Figs, and those who would sell you some substitute even when a child's health is concerned. Don't ever take any bottle that is not plainly labeled CALIFORNIA.

DEPUTY COUNTY CONTROLLER?

ACCORDING to reports that are in circulation around the Lawrence county court house, a deputy controller job is to be added to the list of those on the payroll of the county, when the new controller takes up his duties.

We are not in possession of any official information that such an office is to be filled, but it is not only our opinion but it is the very general opinion of citizens who have discussed the matter that there is no call for the creation of any such additional payroll job.

While there may be a provision in the law for such an official if one is needed, there is plenty of time to wait and see if the duties of the office require any deputy. For many years there has been a controller in New Castle, and his duties are probably as extensive as those of the county controller. He has never had a deputy, or even a clerk.

While, as we say, there may come a time when a deputy controller may be needed in the county office, we believe that there is absolutely no occasion for filling such a position at the present time, or in the near future, and those responsible in this situation should make haste slowly.

There is a general concensus of opinion that addition of a deputy controller is an entirely unwarranted expense on the county.

It was the general belief that a county controller was a needed addition to the county official list. But it is not the general belief that the office is one that requires several other additions to the county payroll to maintain properly.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

The United States weather bureau, in its annual summary of its work, just issued, discusses at some length the subject of long range weather forecasting.

The conclusion is reached, after a very considerable study, that as yet no scientific basis for long range forecasting exists, and that it must for the present at least, confine its predictions to one week ahead.

The advent of the radio, giving a more complete picture than had heretofore been possible, has enable the bureau to make forecasts for a week in advance instead of only one or two days as was the case until a short time ago.

While there exists no scientific basis for long range guesses—and a scientific basis is the only one on which the weather bureau can proceed, we constantly hear about prognostications covering a month or even an entire season. Various publications in the past have specialized on this sort of forecasting and many people put faith in them.

On analyzing them, however, and checking up their predictions with the weather records it is to be found that they are usually couched in very general terms and that often they missed the mark by a long way.

Human nature, it appears, always hankers to peer far into the future, not only as regards weather but most of the affairs of human life. And most efforts of this kind meet with depressing failure. We suspect those who believe long range forecasts will continue to put faith in their particular goose bone prophet. Most of us, however, will be content to take our weather as it comes, and consider a day or so or a week, as very ample notice.

TIME TO ROUT THE BOGEY OF DEPRESSION

The economist who, addressing a meeting of the Association of National Advertisers in Washington, told his hearers that it was time to "snap out" of the constant talk of depression, gave a recipe which should be universally accepted, at least in the United States.

Sensible men have accepted the fact that we have been going through unusual business conditions and have adjusted themselves accordingly. Communities throughout the country, headed by patriotic and public-spirited citizens, have been raising funds to see that the unemployed are cared for during the coming winter. These wise moves are intended to meet a temporary and abnormal state of affairs.

Unfortunately some persons are foolishly harping on "depression" as though it were going to be the permanent condition of this rich and resourceful country. Men who are gainfully employed have joined in this mournful chorus and are helping to create a psychology of fear which is utterly without justification. The time has come to rout this bogey of depression; and if it be undertaken with courage and confidence it can be accomplished. Carol Byoir, a Havana publisher, urges a plan by the advertising and publishing forces of the nation for the creation of a war-time organization to kill the fear psychology among the employed. Under his plan fourteen divisions would be created to restore public confidence. They include advertising, films, public speakers, four-minute men, church work, radio broadcasting, appeals to the foreign born, local organizations, women's work, still pictures, labor, statistics, news and industrial organization.

This is an ambitious programme; whether it can be carried out fully remains to be seen; but if the idea embodied therein be only partially exploited it will result in a feeling of optimism that can hasten the return to normalcy. The work done for preparedness at the time of the war is is a proof of what can be accomplished by the American people when they are once aroused. We are on the eve of better times, and it only needs a fair dose of optimism to turn the trick. The country is truly bored with the everlasting talk about depression. It has become a habit and a mighty bad habit at that.

The worst offenders now are those wno were the silliest during boom times. When prices soared to the highest peaks they felt they would go still higher. They were sure there was no limit. Now that prices have struck bottom they are positive they are looking into a bottomless pit. They were wrong before and they are wrong now. The time to shiver and quake was when the boom was at its height; the time for courage and confidence is now, when deflation has run its course.

Whether we have an organized movement or not, sensible men and women everywhere will do their part in killing senseless fear; they will encourage the movement for buying because we know that the nation will emerge triumphantly from the present depression as we have from every previous one.

If Japan and Russia get into war over Manchuria it won't be hard to guess which side will have the most propaganda.

The usual mid-season upsets are beginning to interfere with the ambitions of many football teams.

All Of Us

The Mountain
Brown in Summer, White in Winter
It Rose Above Our Valley Lives

By MARSHALL MASLIN

When I was a boy I lived in a valley. It was a broad valley with mountains at its back and curving arms along its sides that ran down to the sea. Behind us were the green hills before us, all the time was the wide green ocean.

We went down to the sea to dig clams, to throw our lines far into the surf for little silver fish. We went back to the mountains for wild berries, for vagabonding hikes, for boyish fun. Sometimes along a certain stream we played at being adventurers. Two boys pretended they Lewis and Clark, great explorers, and struggled through the wilderness of that little mountain stream. . . . It came, I think, from a certain peak that rose high above our heads.

I know now that the peak was not so tremendous as it seemed, but it was tall enough to be seen from every corner of our rolling valley. It was big enough for us. Whenever we raised our heads we could see it. In the spring it was green and we could see cattle, tiny moving specks, on its lower slopes. Later, in summer, it was bare and brown. In winter, not all winters, but some of them, it wore a cap of snow that made it seem a wise old ancient who had his kindly eye upon us. He was the high point of the little lives that went their way below him.

I forget much. I have forgotten names, I have forgotten faces, so many days that I lived then have passed forever from my memory and may never return. But it seems to me now that there was never a day when we did not look over there to the Mountain and take some comfort from his presence. He was our High Point.

We have had other high points since them. There are moments in every life of which we can be decently proud. There are days when we are braver, wiser, more unselfish than we had dreamed we could be. Days when we had far vison and deep understanding and did the right thing instictively. Those are the good mountains in our little lives. They stand above the commonplace level of our daily existence and they challenge us to repeat them and to surpass them. They comfort us and inspire us and they are like that mountain that I used to know.

And if we cannot live always on the mountain tops it is good to remember that we do live at the mountain's great foot and that once we did climb it—and that some day, strength given, we may climb it again.

ESTIMATION

"Oh, he is only "such and such" a person.

You have heard persons deprecated because they followed an ignoble or humble profession or trade.

No matter how honorable the calling or how proficient as a worker, there are those who would establish a social basis upon the daily work.

Perhaps you have been guilty of judging a person by this foolish standard.

The only thing that has tempered your remarks on this score has been the amount of money the one under discussion can command.

Money is the saving grace to you, or back the person goes into the discard according to your superficial ideas of the kind of work a man does.

In yourown special undertaking you may occupy a mediocre place.

Another person in less prominent line may be near the top in his way.

Do you figure that the class of work you do is more creditable rather than the quality of work you turn out?

Be fair in your methods of judging people, socially and spiritually.

WHILE MOTHER IS AT THE CLUB SAVING MANKIND THE CHILDREN AT HOME NEED WASHING

Americans have a messiah complex.

When the nation was young efforts to render unselfish service were limited to the neighbors. Those who were content with their own righteousness devoted themselves to saving their fellow citizens, sometimes by means of the whipping cart and the gallows, but domestic problems were numerous enough to prevent any thought of saving the world.

As the nation grew stronger, however, and each succeeding generation was taught to think of America as a haven for the oppressed and a good example for a wicked world, it was inevitable that the itch to serve—that it, to med'le—should prompt a philanthropic interest in the affairs of Europe.

Financing the war to make the world safe for democracy and taking part in it in time to claim the lion's share of credit for the victory, served to increase our sense of responsibility for the world's salvation; and now the popular mental picture and printed description of America is that of righteous and unselfish strength generously enlightening the world and teaching it the way of salvation.

Unfortunately, the world thinks of America as a nation of self-righteous and hyprocritical busy-bodies mouthing pious phrases while oppressing the unfortunate to increase their wealth and it doesn't care for that kind of savior.

Unfortunately, too, it seems to be a rule that people who take too much interest in the affairs of the neighbors usually neglect their own.

While Americans make idealistic plans to save Eprope from wars and taxes and economic distress and wickedness, their own land is given over to bandits, racketeers, mobs, demagogues, quacks and fakers and there is no concerted effort to solve the moral and economic problems that threaten our civilization.

It is high time to amplify the slogan: 'See America first." Young and old must be taught to save America first: civilize America first; clean America first.

Let the urge to serve find release in a selfish and practical effort to make America safe and respectable.

Peace Progress Reviewed On Armistice Anniversary

Americans Find Satisfaction In Greater Attention Given To Means By Which World May Escape Armed Conflict In Future

Speculation on peace and war, inspired by the celebration of the anniversary of Armistice Day, reveals hope for the future in the modern tendency to omit praise for the "pomp and circumstance" of battle. Satisfaction is expressed that the world is giving increased attention to the means of banishing war, even if immediate prospects for such a consummation are slight.

"Our Armistice celebration this year," according to the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "is a more serious and solemn one than it was November 11, 1918. Our admiration for the gallant dead is no less. Cantigny, Chauteau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne, are words that forever will ring gloriously in American history as demonstrating the courage and devotion and heroic sacrifice of the American people. But we hope they will prove to be the last names of battles in which the precious toll of youthful American lives will have to be sacrificed. No more fitting tribute could be paid today to the dead in France than a consecration of this nation, heart and soul, for lasting peace."

"Isn't it meaningful," asks the ATLANTA JOURNAL, "that in all the talk on Armistice Day not a syllable is heard about what Othello called 'the pride, pomp and circumstance of glorious war?' The most frequent tribute to our boys who rest beneath white crosses in France and to those who came home with broken bodies or blinded eyes is that their valor was given and their youth snuffed out for the Peace of the world. On no other anniversary in American annals and on few in human history does this feeling prevail. Other days enshrine victory or defeat and their music sings the oldest passions of earth; but November the eleventh is dedicated to a new hope, a new faith of mankind."

"Here and abroad," thinks the CHARLOTTE (N. C.) NEWS, "war is hated with an implacable fury and with the exception of sentiment which still prevails in jingoistic circles, restricted to the traditional war-mindedness of military organizations, the ideal of peace has taken deep root in the soil of the heart of the human race, and the motive that led millions to give their lives in the welter of the World War gains increasing strength and momentum as the swift years roll along."

A note of warning against a too hopeful attitude is struck by the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS in its comment: "Human nature is human nature; selfishness and passion will forever be expressions of an imperfect human nature; and there will always be classes, differences and wars. But there can be fewer in the future. As people understand each other better they will be less likely to differ, quarrel and fight." Continuing, The News argues for preparedness as an anti-war measure; "But until human nature changes we shall have to employ policemen to preserve the peace at home and maintain reasonable national armies and navies to insure order about our coasts. We cannot have peace unless we are prepared for peace. The best way to be prepared for peace is to be prepared in a reasonably defensive way against war."

The DES MOINES TRIBUNE-CAPITAL feels that progress in the fight for peace lies in the working together of the nations of the world. The paper comments: "Membership in the League of Nations may be quite unnecessary. The future, perhaps the dim future, can be left to determine that. But close and dependable co-operation with the league is the indispensable condition of any successful efforts by the nations to preserve the peace. Our co-operation must be dependable. The rest of the world must be able to rely on it. There must be no blinking that."

While recognizing a "sincere desire for a just and lasting peace among all nations," the SAN ANTONIO NEWS observes that "as before, men remain slaves to fear," and that "betwixt hope and despair, the world goes its blundering way." To The News "its sore need is for leadership—for great men of good will to point the way from Armistice to true peace."

As to the present state of actual disarmament and prospects for the future in that direction, the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITOL comments: "Even if the armed and aggressive powers ignominiously failed in their disarmament plans, the remaining 40-odd governments of the world, it is possible to say, would not consent to live under the shadow of militarism imposed upon them by six great states. They have been negligible in the peace movement, yet need not be. Unarmed for any threatening purpose themselves, they are forever, while militarism by the Powers lasts, in danger of being drawn into the vortex of war, or if they avoid being actually engaged, yet are threatened with economic ruin in the event of war among the militant Powers. Militarism among the six armed Powers therefore is not a menace or a question involving them only, but one that takes in the scope of the entire planet. The independent unarmed states in the final resort by their united protests and demands for disarmament can become a factor far from negligible, and their interest in the question is manifest. They have the right and power to organize not with military force but with moral and economic force to compel the same disarmament which they themselves practice."

THE SMALL BOY'S COMPLAINT

"I had an ice cream soda yesterday
And a large sugar bun.
And I remember that I romped in play
And had a lot of fun."
"Yes," said the mother, "but today you're ill
And must lie very still."

"And I had pie at dinner-time," replied
The fretful little lad.
"Yes," said the mother. "Come, be satisfied!
A happy time you had.
But you are very feverish today
And can't get up to play."

"I don't see why I have to stay in bed.
I want to play some more,
And I want lots of sugar on my bread,
Just like the day before."
"Come," said the mother, "Do not whimper so Because your good times go."

How like our little boys are we who whine
When trouble finds our door,
Thinking that every day the sun should shine
And wanting more and more.
Needing the mother still to say: "Be glad

Cancelling War Debts Pictured As Throwing Entire Burden On U. S.

American Business Would Find Itself Competing For World Trade Against Germany, Says Bernard M. Baruch

By BERNARD M. BARUCH
Chairman of War Industries Board In The Wilson Administration

Many people ask for a cancellation of debts, but they cannot be canceled. If we forgive the money that is owed us, the American taxpayer, manufacturer, laborer and farmer must pay them, because the receipts from the war debts have become a part of our budget, and if they are not paid by others they must be paid by us.

American business would find itself competing for world trade against Germany, with something over $300,000,000 a year taken from the backs of German industry and placed upon our own.

Tariffs have now been taken out of the field of legislation and put into that of international negotiation. In other words, whatever reductions in tariffs are made must be made simultaneously with reductions in other countries. It seems to me that it is good common sense that we can no longer legislate, but must negotiate these matters. So, whether it be the tariff commission or the congress which desires to move in the line of changing tariffs, it must be done as a treaty, which must, of course, be confirmed by the senate.

Of one thing we are certain—that the United States of America will keep its dollars and its bonds sound beyond questioin of a doubt. That can be done only by balancing our budget, by cutting down expenditures and increasing taxation. It has been my thought that two things should be done and done together: First, we should increase the rates in the higher brackets and, second, we should widen the base, so that more people pay taxes. * * *

One fact is obvious: That is the modification of the Volstead act and the legalization of beer and light wines would give us enormous tax receipts—to say nothing of the revivification of industries and the return to work of many thousands of the unemployed. Balancing of the budgets might be easily accomplished by an increase in trade, which would come from a guarantee of peace in Europe or from the rise in the prices of commodities. The problem would then not be so great. I have hopes of both.

Mrs. Pinchot Has Resigned Her Post On Council Board

Wife Of Governor Pinchot Attacks Council Of Republican Women At Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot today was no longer a director of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican women as a result of the board's decision to accept a second resignation which the governor's wife submitted last night.

Declaring that the election of Mrs. Clarence A. Beck, of Easton, was proof of her contention that the board was being "overloaded with organization members," Mrs. Pinchot came forward a second time and insisted that her relations with the directorate be severed.

Mrs. Beck had been elected at a board meeting to replace Judge Sara M. Soffel, of Pittsburgh, who was not a candidate for re-election to the directorate. Mrs. William Anderson, of Aspinwall, Allegheny county, then was elected to succeed Mrs. Pinchot.

Attacks Council

Renewing her attack upon the council for its "changing principles," the governor's wife, who helped to organize the body in 1923, said the council had shown that "the test of Simon Pure republicanism was to vote for a Democratic governor.'

Officers and directors of the council offered no comment except to make known they had written to Mrs. Pinchot yesterday, asking her to reconsider her decision of Wednesday.

Mrs. Pinchot's first resignation notice was not acted upon and she was elected to the board Wednesday as a member of the slate agreed upon last August.

IRON MOLDER, BY BODY VIBRATION, RECORDS QUAKES

(International News Service)

HEXHAM, England, Nov. 20.—A human seismograph whose sensitive nerves record earth shocks thousands of miles away is a puzzle to physicians here.

G. H. Robson, a jobless iron molder, has recorded earthquakes in Japan, India, New Zealand and the South Pacific Islands with such accuracy that he has drawn the attention of eminent scientists to himself.

Distinct vibration of the spine occurs for the duration of an earthshock in some corner of the world.

The weakness or violence of the earthquakes can be estimated by the extent of the spine vibration.

Robson says he recorded his first quake eight years ago, and by checking newspaper and observatory reports, found that it coincided with a shock in Mexico. This year he claims to have detected 21 earthquakes.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

A price advance in the great agricultural staples has been long overdue. Large as the surpluses of some crops are, not even the world prostration of trade could justify prices that are lower than the lowest costs of production.

This is why the recovery in grain prices that got under way late in October is hailed with joy. It is based on a certainty that the price was intrinsically too low, plus a half a dozen developments in the grain world, all favorable to higher prices. Whether the rally is continuous or not, certainly the tendency should be upward for the next two months.

The big question is Russia, as usual. The U. S. S. R. started out the shipping season with a burst of speed. Twice as much Russian wheat appeared in the European markets as in 1930, and the grain trade shook its head. But that hasty movement did not hold. At last reports little good Russian wheat was in sight, and observers are beginning to think that the harvest has fallen below 1930 figures.

It is the off-season, of course, for Argentina and Australia. Their growing 1932 crops are believed to be nothing to brag about. Canada's 1931 crop was a semi-failure, as was our own spring wheat production.

Finally, Europe-grown wheat is none too plentiful, and the quality is reported as low.

That leaves our own huge, high-quality winter wheat crop and our carry-over of old wheat as the world's chief source of supply, and it looks as if Europe must buy much of it, willing or unwilling. A continent of bread eaters, they must have bread.

There are two more favorable factors. The unbelievably low prices for the grain have done what low prices invariably do—they have increased consumption, encouraged waste, and discouraged plantings of winter wheat for next year. Waste includes the feeding of wheat to animals, where coarser grain is ordinarily used, and even some cases of burning for fuel, as has often been done with corn. Some wheat, as well as much oats and rye, was not even cut this fall.

The fall plantings, after all, are the most significant evidence of the change for the better. Although plenty of acreage is available for expanding wheat production, there has been an important shrinkage from last year—although the exact amount of decrease is not yet known with certainty.

The abnormally high acre-yield of 1930-31 can hardly be repeated in 1931-32, so that it may well be that the 1932 crop will be somewhere within a reasonable figure at last.

Among others, the federal farm board and its co-operative and stabilization babies may well rejoice over the turn in the tide. For every 10 cents of advance in the wheat price the farm board comes "out of the hole" by something like $20,000,000, or it may be more.

If the advance holds, the farm board will be in just that much better shape to present itself before a critical congress and account for its activities of the last nine months.

More important still, if the advance holds it will be tangible evidence that agriculture is leading the way out of the world depression, which is the way many able economists believe recovery must come about.

Those who are down in the mouth should not despair. Jonoh came out all right.

SURVEY OF STUDENTS SHOWS FEW ATHEISTS

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—Less than 5 per cent of college students are atheists and 24 per cent of them find prayer valuable in strengthening the will or moral power," states Dr. Herbert W. Searles of the school of philosophy, University of Southern California.

Professor Searles has just completed the study with the aid of Dr. Edwin Starbuck, director of character at S. C.

"Implicit faith in God was professed by an average of 81 per cent of the students enrolled in five colleges and universities," Dr. Searles reports. "Approximately 44 per cent of students undergo some sort of a change in their conception of God during the years they spend in colleges and universities. The general trend of the student thought is from belief in a personal God to belief in an impersonal God, and away from orthodoxy.

"The greatest change is noted in the junior and senior years, and there is a swing back to a personal conception of the Almighty after graduate study."

MUSSOLINI'S PLAY TO BE STAGED

(International News Service)

WEIMAR, Nov. 20.—The German National Theatre at Weimar has acquired exclusive reproduction rights for Mussolini's latest dramatic work, "Campo di Maggio". According to the Duce's own wishes the play will be shown between the London and Paris premieres in January next year.

The German title of the play will be "The Hundred Days". It describes the life of Napoleon I. from his flight from the island of Elba to his final defeat at Waterloo.

While the idea and the plot of the play are Mussolini's, the external form of the dialogue was arranged by G. Forzano, Italian playwright, who will represent the Duce at the premiere. Dr. Ulbrich, famous director of the State Theatre, is staking the play.

New County Treasurer Plans New Departures In Handling Office

While he does not assume office as county treasurer until January, William O. Pitts, County Treasurer-elect has been busy in the past three weeks looking into the mode of procedure in other counties, with an idea to taking over any good ideas he found. As a result of his investigation Mr. Pitts has outlined some changes for the office of county treasurer, which if agreed to by the county commissioners will result in a large save of time and annoyance for the tax payers of the county.

Mr. Pitts believes that tax payers should be notified by a card system. By utilizing one end of the card as a stub record, the little additional expense entailed by the purchase of cards would be offset by the savings in bookkeeping in the office and in the taxpayers time.

Sub-Stations For Collection

Another idea which Mr. Pitts believes would be valuable to the tax payer is that of designating certain banks in various parts of the county as sub-stations for the county treasurer where the taxpayer could pay his taxes. This would mean a savings of time and expense to the taxpayer and also deposit the money in the bank.

In this connection Mr. Pitts said, "it is my idea that much of the congestion in the treasurer's office could be eliminated and the time of the tax payer saved, if he could pay his taxes at some bank near his home. For example the seventh ward tax payer could pay his in the seventh ward, the tax payer in the northern end of the county could pay his in New Wilmington or Volant; the taxpayer in Ellwood or Bessemer could pay his taxes in banks in those places."

"This would save one operation in that the money would go directly into the bank and thus the necessity and possible danger attending the deposit of it could be avoided. Further, the tax payer would save himself a lot of time and inconvenience."

"All of these things are but tentative as yet. They appear to me to be logical, efficient and economical and I trust that the county commissioners will see it in the same light. Any change in the matter of tax notification will have to be agreed to by the commissioners, and of course I can do nothing without their co-operation. It will be my purpose to conduct the office of county treasurer as efficiently as possible, with as much convenience as possible to the taxpayer, and to work in harmony with the other offices of the court house."

The ideas advanced by Mr. Pitts will undoubtedly meet with universal approval by the taxpayers. For years there has been a demand for a card notification system similar to that used by the city, but thus far it has been impossible to get the treasurer's office and the county commissioners' office together on the subject. The matter became an issue in the campaign for election and will probably go through after January, 1932.

WILDERNESS WOMAN WOULD SEE "MOVIE"

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 20.—When Mrs. G. D. Crandall emerges from the isolated wildernesses of the middle fork of Salmon river one of the first things she will do will be to see a talking picture show.

She told M. P. Bailey, state game warden, of her ambition when he was in that area recently.

Mrs. Crandall has not left the ranch for five years, and has slight prospects of getting out this winter as heavy snows already have blocked the trails.

The Crandall ranch is well known to big game hunters who penetrate the region with pack horses during the summer months.

To be a HEALTHY WOMAN watch your Bowels!

WHAT should women do to keep their bowels moving freely? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow. Give some to keep little bowels open during colds.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all druggists keep it ready in big bottles) and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!

NEW POLAR TRIP, ONLY LACKS MONEY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Another expedition into the far north by Dr. Gunnar Horn, Norwegian explorer and geologolist seems likely provided suitable financial arrangements can be made.

Dr. Horn discoverer of the remains of the Andree Polar expedition on White Island last year, is now in this country presumably on a lecture tour but has admitted the possibly of another notrehern trip.

"Formerly explorers could defray the expenses of their expeditions by bringing back bear cubs," he explained. "One of these formerly sold for $130 but now the price is so low they are not worth catching. The present depression has greatly handicapped explorers in their work."

Dr. Horn referred to the Andree discovery as purely luck. Therefore, he was of the opinion that it would not be practicable to organize a party in an attempt to find Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer who was lost in 1928.

Tuesday Evening Classes At Y. W. C. A. Are Being Well Attended

New Castle people are looking forward to next Tuesday evening when Dr. G. S. Bennett will conduct another of his series of Religious Education classes at the Y. W. C. A.

Although the classes were commenced just several weeks ago they have been attended by great crowds of interested people of all religious denominations.

Dr. Bennett is conducting these courses in the same manner and high standard as they are given in college. Several members of the two classes are getting college credit for their work in the Y. W. C. A. classes, and a great number are receiving credit for the international Sunday School teachers' training certificate.

One hundred and four representatives of 21 different churches and 12 different denominations attended last Tuesday's classes.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Good Habits For Mother, Baby Listed

Child Made Good Citizen By Following These Rules

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

In working out lessons a few years ago in some work with expectant mothers, my wife hit upon the happy idea of matching side by side the habit desired in the infant with the habit in the mother necessary to cultivate the baby's habit. From a pamphlet which she prepared for a public child health association, I am borrowing most of the following statements of this article. We shall designate the habit pairs as (a) and (b), (a) for child, (b) for mother.

Best Sleeping Habits Require:

1. (a) Regular hours both night and day. (b) Definite hours for child's rest. 2. (a) Proper number of hour's sleep. (b) Child to sleep sufficient hours. 3. (a) That the child does not fuss at bed time. (b) Definite rules about putting child to bed. 4. (a) That the child goes to sleep alone. (b) Child to be put in his own room alone. 5. (a) That child shall not be rocked. (b) That mother do not rock the child.

Best Eating Habits Require

1. (a) That eating be done at regular hours. (b) Definite feeding hours and rules. 2. (a) No fussing for food between meals. (b) No food to be given between meals. 3. (a) Vegetables be eaten as prescribed. (b) New foods to be given in small quantities. 4. (a) No dawling over food. (b) Limited time; making meal time pleasant. 5. (a) Drinking proper quantity of milk. (b) Giving child proper quantity of milk. 6. Drinking proper quantity of water. (b) Giving child proper quantity of water. 7. (a) No fussing for forbidden foods. (b) Never giving child forbidden foods.

* * *

Best Cleanliness Habits Require:

1. (a) That the child enjoy his bath. (b) That bathing time be made pleasant. 2. (a) That teeth be cleaned without complaint. (b) That care be used in cleaning the teeth. 3. (a) Establishment of good habits of elimination. (b) Attention to regular habits of elimination.

Best Emotional Habits Require:

1. (a) No crying at slight hurts. (b) No display of excitement over slight hurts. 2. (a) Enduring care of slight injuries quietly. (b) Calmness in giving first aid care. 3. (a) Taking medicine without fuss. (b) Matter of fact attitude in giving medicine. 4. (a) Giving up forbidden things without tantrum. (b) Firmness in making "No" mean "No" 5. (a) Proper care of property. (b) Teaching proper handling of property. 6. (a) Not running away into streets, etc. (b) Not permitting child to run into street. 7. (a) Learning to amuse himself for a time. (b) Giving child opportunity to amuse himself. 8. (a) No fear of thunderstorms, darkness, new faces etc. (b) Refraining from expressing fears before child.

* * *

Although these objectives are simple, the mother who can clearly keep them in mind and arrive at them will find that her child at the age of two or three is equipped with a wholesome array of habits favorable to his physical and mental safety, and for his development of likableness and good citizenship. It may be that study groups will find this list of habits a good basis for discussion. Readers who have friends that are parents of little children might want to clip this article and forward it. A good many grateful mothers have written me that although they do not have access to this column in a local paper, they receive it through the kindness of some friend. Grandmothers seem to find peculiar pleasure in subscribing to a paper containing it to be sent to a distant daughter-mother.

EDITOR'S NOTE Two pamphlets by Dr. Meyers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth St., Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Punishments and Rewards" and 'Fear."

For Correct Posture Use These Rules

Stand, Sit, Lie, Think Tall For Good Bodily Build

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Since we have discussed in the last two articles the importance of good posture to health, it may be well to define what good posture is.

The ten commandments of good posture, as given by Dr. Phillips Lewin, are as follows:

1. Stand tall.
2. Sit tall.
3. Walk tall and chesty, with weight transmitted to balls of feet.
4. Draw in abdomen, pulling it backward and upward.
5. Keep shoulders high and square.
6. Pull chin straight toward collar button.
7. Flatten hollow of back by rolling pelvis backward and downward.
8. Separate shoulders from hips as far as possible.
9. Lie tall and flat.
10. Think tall.

It will be seen that according to this good posture is demanded while standing, sitting or lying down.

There are three types of bodily build recognized—thin, stocky and intermediate. The term stocky applies largely to children. Later on in life a less complimentary word is likely to be used. Each of these bodily types has its own standards by which one must judge posture. And in each type posture is rated under four headings—excellent, good, poor and bad. Under any one of these headings your child may be classified.

Excellent: Head up, chin in. Head balanced above shoulders, hips and ankles. An imaginary plumb line dropped from the side of the head should pass through the ear and through the middle of the shoulders, hip, knee and ankle bone.

2. Chest up. Breast bone the part of the body farthest forward.
3. Lower abdomen in and flat.
4. Back curves within normal limits.

Good: 1. Head slightly forward.
2. Chest slightly lowered.
3. Lower abdomen in, but not fla
4. Back curves slightly increased

Poor: 1. Hear forward.
2. Chest flat.
3. Abdomen relaxed. (Part of body farthest forward.)
4. Back curves exaggerated.

Bad: 1. Head markedly forward.
2. Chest sunken.
3. Abdomen completely relaxed and protuberant.
4. Back curves extremely exaggerated.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

A. C.: "I am anxious to know all about the thyroid glands, especially the disease called exophthalmic. Is an operation necessary? How long after an operation before you feel all right again?"

Answer: The disease of the thyroid gland called exophthalmic goiter may be severe or mild or moderate in character. For the severe form the best treatment we have at present is probably operation. Recovery from this operation should be complete in a few weeks, and after operation, if it has been successful, the symptoms of the disease should abate in about six months.

Inner Circle Degree Is Given By P. H. C.

Elaborate And Impressive Ceremonial Given By Local Circle

Peraps the most elaborate and impressive ceremonial ever held in New Castle Circle No. 5, Protected Home Circle, was the observance of the inner circle degree, held on Wednesday night when over one hundred qualified members entered into this mysterious and beautiful work of the order.

Previous to the ceremonial the inner circle banquet was held in the dining room of the new Epworth M. E. church where nearly 200 guests were seated at beautifully appointed tables where a faultless menu daintily served by the young ladies received many compliments for their splendid service including words of praise for the ladies who prepared the excellent dinner—then too the dining had been attractively decorated with the national colors of the order forming a pretty picture of the event.

With genial jolly George W. Muse as toastmaster his wit and humorous remarks throughout his address of welcome kept everybody in a good humor as he presented the following program, and at eight o'clock the local circle chamber was completely filled with members who had taken the degree and candidates about to enter through and travel farther—here too the hall was a blaze of Old Glory and the ceremonial was in session.

Never was the work made more impressive than with special Deputy Charles Barton as mighty Supreme Noble assisted by the wonderful inner circle staff of Sharon and among the many honored guests present was the Supreme President S. H. Hadley and wife, Supreme Secretary Walter Palmer and wife, Supreme Guide L. D. Leninger and wife, Mayor Frank Gilbert and wife, Joseph Spencer and wife, Director of Junior Circles Cora E. Phillips and Captain of the team Joseph Nelson from Sharon—a matter of regret was the absence of Hon. Fred Service supreme solicitor who was to bring the ink, that was just too bad but Mrs. Service represented her husband in the usual charming manner while Sharon's popular mayor Frank Gilbert produced the one of the pleasant features of the event was the presence of Mrs. R. G. Baird wife of the late supreme auditor Dr. R. G. Baird and Mrs. Walter Whitehead wife of the late supreme treasurer Walter Whitehead and then of course State Deputy M. M. PING-PONG BALLS AS LIFE-SAVERS ON BOATS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Ping-pong balls have been proved to be valuable, not only as a means of entertainment but in life saving.

The late Sir Henry Seagrave, prominent British sportsman, evolved the idea of placing thousands of ping-pong balls between the double planking of the hull and the aluminus lining of racing boats for buoyancy in case of an accident.

Life preservers are found to be too heavy to be carried on racing boats because they would retard the speed. But the ping-pong balls are almost as light as air but very buoyant. Under actual racing conditions it was proven that while the balls were insufficient to support the boat for any long period of time, they consilerably retarded the sinking for those few minutes necessary for a launch to put a rescue line around the bows.

NO SCHOOL FOR TOTS UNTIL TEN, HE URGES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Formal discipline given to kindergarten and elementary pupils is harmful to their natural development, according to Dr. David Shedden, professor of education at Teachers college, Columbia university.

Therefore, it is his belief that children, especially those having pleasant home environment, should not be permitted to attend school until they are 10 years old.

Children roaming around in a naturalistic manner within the home gain a firmer foundation of wholesome habit formations, he declared. In school they suffer "hot-house conditions of formalized plays, intellectual stimulations or hard socializations," he said.

Federal Program Of Tax Revision Not Yet Complete

Despite Various Plans Treasury Department Has Not Yet Completed Program

MELLON HAS NOT APPROVED PLANS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Despite various plans for tax revision suggested in congressional circles and purporting to bear the sanction of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, it was learned at the treasury department Thursday that the government's program has not been completed and no decision reached as to the amount of additional revenue which must be raised.

Officials said the primary objective was to balance the budget. Considerable difficulty is being experienced by the treasury's experts in finding sources of revenue which may be tapped without placing serious obstacles in the way of business recovery. Without tax increases the government's total income this year would be about $2,000,000,000 while its expenditures were expected to be around $4,000,000,000. It would be hardly possible to enact a tax law that would increase revenues by $2,000,000,000, these officials said.

Oxford-Educated Son Of Secretary Mellon Will Spend Holiday In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 20.—Paul Mellon, son of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, who recently arrived in New York from Europe, will be in Pittsburgh early next week to spend the Thanksgiving vacation with friends here, it was learned today.

It is said that the Oxford-educated son of the treasury secretary may continue his studies in banking upon arrival here. Although he has evidenced keen literary tastes, young Mellon, in deference to the wishes of his father, spent last summer in the Mellon National bank here learning the business "from the ground up."

He has been silent, however, on what his future plans are, since being graduated.

New Directors Are Named To Serve For Ensuing Year At Election

GOOD TALKS ARE GIVEN BY MEMBERS

Five new directors were named to serve for a period of three years at the annual meeting of the New Castle Credit Exchange, which was held in the Trinity church dining room last evening.

Those named were: Charles McGrath, E. B. Bartlett and Walter Dietterle from New Castle, P. W. Griffin of Bessemer and W. Filmore Campbell of New Wilmington, the latter two of whom represent the branch agencies in their respective communities.

There was a large attendance of the membership at the meeting, which was preceded by a dinner served by the women of the church. Walter Dietterle, vice president of the exchange, presided at the meeting.

Attorney Roy M. Jamison gave an interesting address on the relationship between the wholesaler and retailer, and the obligations to each other.

Following Mr. Jamison's talk, a round table discussion was led by Carl Miner which proved interesting to all members and brought out many points which will prove of value to the members during the coming year.

The report of Secretary Ray F. Hall was very enlightening and showed that the exchange has made material progress during the past year, both in regards to membership and in point of financial gain, the financial position of the exchange being on a very firm basis.

Hammond And Ritchie Make No Defense Pleas

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Pleas of no defense to charges of conspiracy to defraud in the sale of stock of the Atlantic Drug & Chemical company were entered in criminal court here today by David S. Hammond and J. Ritchie as their trial entered its third day.

They were remanded to jail where Hammond is serving a two-year sentence following conviction on a similar charge, until Judge Frank Graff of Armstrong county, who had presided at the trial, until today, returns to Pittsburgh.

Witnesses had testified that they purchased stock in the company, lured by offices lavishly furnished and representations that the company was about to launch a manufacturing and sales campaign of a patented nose and throat remedy.

About $60,000 had been invested in stock, which was worthless, according to the testimony. Several other officers of the company were indicted but have not been apprehended.

Seek To Identify Woman Found Dead Near Media, Penna.

Delaware County Officials Work Intensively To Identify Body Of Apparent Suicide

(International News Service)

MEDIA, Pa., Nov. 20.—Delaware county detectives centered their efforts on identification of the skeleton of a woman found near Newton Square ten days ago, today upon the telegraphic request of Mary McPorud of Yonkers, N. Y., Mrs. McProud explained that her sister had disappeared two years ago and she asked for further information concerning the body.

The requested information has been forwarded to Mrs. McPraud. In the meantime a dental chart of the woman's teeth was prepared and broadcast. The chart reveals several expensive inlays and fillings tending to bear out the belief of Coroner Dr. J. Evans Scheehle that the woman was a person of refinement.

Dentists examining the teeth said the woman was between the ages of 30 and 40.

The womanapparently had been dead for six months when her body was found and there were no marks of identification in the bits of clothing found on the scene.

One fireplug and two automobiles were more or less battered up at one thirty today at the corner of East Wallace avenue and Blaine streets when two cars came together at the street intersection. The accident occurred when Mrs. E. O. Fankhauser attempted to pass the car driven by Robert Houk. Both are New Castle residents.

The left side of the Houk car and the right side of the Fankhouser car were smashed in and the Fankhouser car ran up on to a fire plug near the corner, loosening it so that the water flooded out into the street.

Shot for Politics?

Believed to have been the outcome of a political argument over the recent elections, the shooting of Brigadier General H. H. Denhardt (above), former Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky and at present publisher of a Bowling Green, Ky., newspaper, has caused considerable turmoil in the Blue Grass State. William Dent, 50-year-old veteran is held in connection with the shooting which occurred as Denhardt was on his way to his office.

"Y" Gives Short Explanation Of Manchurian War

Here Is Manchurian Situation In Just Two Paragraphs

With the Manchurian situation headlining hundreds of United States newspapers and assuming vital importance in the affairs of the world, a short simple explanation of the situation will be of interest to many people who haven't followed the accounts carefully.

Miss Marguerite White, general secretary of the local Y. W. C. A. has received among dispatches from the national committee on public affairs of the Y. W. C. A., the following two paragraphs on the Manchurian situation:

Background: Manchuria is Chinese territory. Japan has large interests there, giving her access to raw materials essential to her national life. These were acquired through treaties to which Japan now appeals but which China refuses to recognize, claiming they were forced upon her as a part of the Twenty-one Demands in 1915. This fundamental conflict lies back of the more immediate difficulty. Following a local clash near Mukden on September 18, Japan's military forces, China claims, have committed acts of aggression outside the treaty limits; Japan, however, contends that her economic rights and her citizens must be protected, and refuses to withdraw her troops until those rights have been adequately guaranteed.

Present Situation: Japan was asked by the League of Nations to withdraw all troops within treaty lines by November 16. Involved in this whole question is the greater issue of whether war or the League procedure of peaceful settlement will prevail. This is the first dispute involving a great Power with which it has attempted to deal. Moreover, the United States has for the first time shown that in a crisis she will consult with the League.

ROBBERY OCCURS AT BECK HOME

Home of W. A. Beck, 729 Oak street, was the scene of a petty robbery last night during the absence of the family. While the family was away, contents of an ice box on the rear porch were taken, including the baby's milk, bacon, lard and vegetables. The dishes were found in a rear alley near the home. Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Lockard were upon the case.

To Build Entire City At One Time Under U. S. Plans

Will Lay Out Complete Municipality At Hoover Dam

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Nov. 20.—A city large enough to provide homes and markets for 10,000 people, completely equipped as to pavements, sewers, curbings, alleys and waterworks—but without a house in it—is to be built near the site of the Hoover dam in Nevada.

Eventually, of course, there will be houses and business buildings. The task confronting the construction company at present, however, is the building of the city without houses.

Boulder City, Nevada, is to be one of the few American cities which have been built according to a definite plan laid out before construction work was started. Longview, Wash., is said to be the only other city in the world built complete according to a plan.

Vincent K. Jones, in charge of building operations, is the man who is going to build the city. Although the government contract has not as yet been let it is known that Jones' bid is about $105,000 dollars below that of the nearest competitor, with a bid of $274,000. The contract is to cover labor only, the government to furnish all materials.

"We are ready to get started with the work within a week after the contract is awarded," Jones says. "Creating this city in the desert is supposed to be a seven-months job, but we expect to finish it in five.

"We will use about 400 men. There will be about 100 men of our own. The other 300 will be recruited from the hundreds of persons who have flocked to the dam site from all over the country.

"There are many advantages in building a city all at one time from a single plan," Jones said. 'For instance," he pointed out, "you know in advance just where the residence district is to be and the lacation of the business district.

"From that you can tell which streets should have the thickest paving. Boulder City will have four classes of paving, one for the main business streets, another for the secondary business streets, a third for the residential districts and still another for the outlying sections where traffic will be lightest.

"Another advantage in building a town that way is that you know what districts will need the largest water mains. The whole plan for a city of 10,000 persons has been worked out carefully by the government."

Boulder City will be unique in that it will have no parking problems. The plans adopted by the government engineers provide for parking areas at convenient points throughout the business district and at the end of certain of the residential streets.

Boy Scouts To Whittle 3 Free Trips To Alaska

Plan To Stimulate Interest In Indian Lore

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—To the three Boy Scouts in the United States who are most skilled with their pocket knives awaits a free trip to Alaska next summer. They must whittle out totem poles and the best work draws the three prizes.

The Department of Interior, in conjunction with the Alaska railroad, which is a constituent part thereof; the Alaska Steamship Company and the Northern Pacific Railway Company are making this award possible. The competition is open to every Boy Scout in the country.

It is the intention of the department and the railroads to stimulate interest of the Scouts in Indian lore, and to provide recognition of the character-building and educational features of the Scout program by developing every outstanding Scout's character, service and skill in the form of three awards:

First—A trip from the home city of the Scout to interior Alaska and return, including several days to be spent in Mt. McKinley National Park. This trip will occupy approximately 19 days from Seattle, the point of departure to interior Alaska and return, in addition to the time required in traveling from the home city of the winning Scouts to Seattle and return.

Second—A cruise by steamship from Seattle to Seward, Alaska, and return—occupying 12 days.

Third—A cruise by steamship from Seattle to Skagway, Alaska, and return, occupying 10 days.

All expenses will be paid by the Alaska road and its associates.

It is the intention of the officials of the Boy Scouts and the Interior Department to give these awards to Scouts who will pass this knowledge and skill to their brother Scouts when they return from the land of the Midnight Sun.

TRYING TO COVER TRIP OF MOSES IN 40 HOURS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 20—The record set by Moses and the Israelites in crossing the Sinai Desert of Arabia in forty years is threatened by another band of Israelites. Seven Jewish motorcyclists have just left London to make the 300 miles across the desert sands by motorcycle.

"We hope to do it in 40 hours, thus slightly reducing the record of Moses," said A. Ilkar, leader of the party.

The riders represent the Hapoel, the workers' sports organization of Palestine. They had travelled 8,000 miles from Palestine to England without a mishap.

"Crusoes" Back Home Again

Eugenic Center Thrives; Backed By War Profits

Eligibility Based On Human Qualities And Not Financial Resources

(International News Service)

STRASBURG, Alsace, Nov. 20.—"From wartime sweetmeat profits do healthy children grow."

More than two hundred married couples with an average of two children in each family thus sing their contentment in the suburban garden center known as the Ungemach Foundation. It was built and maintained with a surplus of $500,000 from the Societe Alsacienne deAlimentation.

The world economic crisis finds them untroubled. Their maximum rental is $150 a year. They are required only to be tidy and clean and to bring healthy children into the world.

The foundation fund was given by Monsieur Ungemach proprietor of the sweets factory, but the project itself was the conception of Alfred Dachert, manager of the factory, who says he was originally inspired by Darwin's 'Origin of Species."

Monsieur Dachert dreamed and schemed and even traveled to the Far East where he studied the Manchu town of Pekin and New Batavia, Java, but it was German legislation in 1918 which regulated the sugar-stuffs made in such a way that his company found itself embarrassed with money and decided up on the social experiment.

The center has been growing for eight years until it now comprises one hundred and forty one "ideal" homes all built on the site of an old forteress.

Clerks and government employes largely make up the center. Eligibility is based on 'human qualities" and not on 'financial resources."

A questionnaire and a medical certificate show the tenants come up to eugenic standards. If they are childless it is understood they must bring at least two children into the world within five years.

The dwellings were built, Monsieu Dachert says, with the idea of minimizing a housewife's labor, all the rooms being on one floor. There are a kitchen-dining room, laundry, bathrpom and one or more bedrooms each with running water.

Milk and all foodstuffs are delivered to the door since there are neither stores nor cafes in the center. A day nursery takes care of the center's offsprings during working hours.

A committee inspects the dwelling at regular intervals and sets a rating for cleanlieness and healthiness. Monsieur Dachert says there is an average betterment of 1.3 per cent in manner of living of his eugenic tenants, compared to the time before they took up residence at Ungemach.

The history in the center, he says boasts the following facts:

"Intoxication is completely unknown.

"There has only been one quarrel between neighbors.

"Only once has a rent been unpaid.

"No epidemics. Signs of tuberculosis in children have been few and slight.

'The percentage for the excess of births over deaths per thousand living, in a single year: 35.6 compared with 2.7 in Strasburg.

"Families often leave the center for larger dwellings or build their own homes, thus showing they have prospered.

"The Foundation replaces families that do not grow in its environment, but this action has been taken only nine times."

The center will be administered as a separate estate until 1950 when it will become the property of the town of Strasburg.

CANADIAN HIGHWAY TO SKIRT COLUMBIA

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—A new highway, well advanced, will, when completed, supply the last link in the western half of the proposed Trans-Canada highway, establishing a direct artery of communication between the Prairies and the Pacific coast and opening a through road from Winnipeg to Vancouver. This new road about the Big Bend of the Columbia river between Golden and Bevelstoke, British Columbia, a distance of 192 miles, will mean much to motor travel in Canada.

For the greater part of the way the road will skirt the Columbia river, affording magnificent views of the snow-capped heights of the Sellkirk range and of the giant peaks, including Mount Clemenceau, Mount Columbia and Mount Bryce, which cluster along the Great Divide in that part of the main Rockies.

Paris To Start Skyscraper; See Pyramid City

(International News Service)

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Paris' first skyscraper will probably be a hospital. Plans are now being made to make the Beaujon Hospital at Clichy a building of eleven stories, the highest one in this city being of no more than six flights up (and usually without elevator!)

It will have every modern improvement known to science and provide for 1,006 beds, with 350 separate rooms. Consulting rooms and dispensaries will be on the first floor and the two upper stories will be devoted to tubercular patients.

A garage for 100 cars and well-equipped recreation rooms will be special features of this hospital.

This hospital-skyscraper may be the beginning of important changes in the capital acording to proposals made by a well-known architect, Mr. Le Corbusier to construct a Paris of enormous pyramids of buildings which would give the same accommodation as today on one-tenth the area.

These great pyramids would be for offices only and not show a single stone, only tiers and tiers of glass and wide openings for air and light. Every room would have a whole side built of glass to be opened instead of windows. One wonders what would happen when the usual winter rains begin?

The buildings would be very far apart so that there would be a subway station in each one with elevators running up to all the floors. But here again is a grave problem, for Parisian elevators are nearly always of the stick-and-stay variety.

The re-building plans also include vast propects for the creation of extensive parks and gardens along the river banks which it is asserted would certainly make Paris the most beautiful city of the world.

Every age is an age of transition. The first Belgian king took oath of office 100 years ago.

Plans Course For Hotel Employes

Course Mapped Out For Pocono Mountain Hotel Employes

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—A training program has been worked out for hotel employes in the Pocono mountain region, according to an announcement today by Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction. This is a new venture in the field of public education and is due to urgent requests coming from hotel interests of the Pocono region and the Monroe county Chamber of Commerce to the Department of Public Instruction for assistance along this line.

The hotels and boarding houses of the Pocono mountain region find it necessary to import large numbers of employes from New York City, New Jersey, the New England states and elsewhere, one hotel alone using some 75 additional assistants during the summer season. The importation of non-resident help is due to the fact that local people are not trained for this particular type of service.

An immediate survey of the number of employes of various kinds that will be needed for both summer and winter sessions will be made. The survey will also seek to determine how many new employes will be needed each year to meet the demands in each class of employment, in order to plan the scope of the training program.

Classes for various groups, including waitresses, laundrywomen, chambermaids, cooks, clerks, porters, bell boys, etc., will be organized in convenient centers under the immediate supervision of the county superintendent's office. It is felt that a number of local boys and girls of high school age and upward will be eager to avail themselves of the opportunity to qualify for this particular type of employment.

The initial financing of the project has been authorized by the State Council of Education out of a special fund provided by the last General Assembly.

Two Style Type Is Used On Cards

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Automobile owners are advised by Benjamin G. Eynon, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, that 1932 registration cards are being stamped in two different styles of numbers and that cards stamped in either style are valid. The same condition will also prevail on the 1932 operator's cards when they are issued in January.

The difference in the style of the numbers is due to the use of a numbering machine in addition to hand-stamped numbers, Commissioner Eynon said. Cards with either type of numbers are legal, he said. Numbers stamped by machine are of a plain machine block type, approximately three-sixteenths of an inch in height. The hand stamped numbers are italic in style and also three-sixteenths of an inch in height.

Every registration card or operator's card so numbered and received from the Bureau of Motor Vehicles is valid.

"Your son has a great thirst for knowledge. Where did he get it?

Turkey Prices Lower For Thanksgiving, Is News From Districts

Estimated That Entire Dinner For Thanksgiving Will Be $2.00 Cheaper This Year

Indicate Top Prices For Turkeys May Be 40 Cents —About 10 To 25 Cents Lower

By RONALD E. MILLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20. — King Turkey — The Thanksgiving Day bird—today appeared to be on the downward path in value as the day for his demise approached. Reductions of from 10 to 25 cents per pound for turkeys are in order for the Thanksgiving holiday season, according to latest advices from the turkey raising and fattening sections of Eastern Pennsylvania.

In the Perkasie-Sellersville section, long noted for its fine gobblers, both home dressed and imported to be fattened, the top price prevailing was 40 cents per pound, some 10 or 15 cents cheaper than last year. At Hatfield where 2,000 fine birds were sold over the counter the price was 35 cents per pound, the lowest in the last 15 years.

Prices Take Drop

The Lehigh Valley, especially Lehigh county, offers some of the best home grown birds available in this section. Last year the prices for the best turkeys grown in this section were as high as 65 cents per pound. A big drop in the price on Mr. Turkey's head is found there this year, however, with top prices ranging from 40 to 50 cents per pound.

Large numbers of gobblers of all sizes have been imported to nearby turkey centers to be fattened and placed on auction, both public and private. Among the more famed turkey centers in this section is the Paul S. Gulick farm, Perkasie, Bucks county, and the farm of Milton Benner, reputed turkey king, near Hatfield. Benner intimated that there is every possibility the price of turkeys may be lower as the final days before Thanksgiving pass by, and also during the intervening days between now and Christmas.

Whole Dinner Is Less

While the turkey is the mainstay of the Thanksgiving dinner, some more economical persons may turn to the chicken for their feast of the day. Here, too, great savings over prices of last year may be realized by the buying public.

Hand in hand with the slump in turkey prices are lower prices in all the accessories to a fine moderate Thanksgiving dinner. For a family of four and one or two guests it is estimated that a Thanksgiving day dinner with turkey will cost at least $2 less this year than last.

Recovery From Depression Is Slow And Gradual, Says Noted Editor And Economist

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—The United States, having passed the crisis in its depression, is "now in a period of convalescence, painful but necessary and wholesome," Albert W. Atwood, economist, author and financial editor of the Saturday Evening Post, told Pittsburgh life insurance men at a luncheon here Thursday.

"Certainly," Atwood declared, "present conditions do not warrant the pessimism which still exists, nor did conditions warrant the even greater pessimism which existed a few weeks ago.

This country is not on the brink of a revolution.

What has been mistaken for cataclysm, Atwood averred, is "merely the effort of a vastly complicated and interdependent social and economic machine to regain its poise and equilibrium."

Probe Report Of Senator Getting Gift Of $100,000

Unnamed Senator Is Said To Have Received $100,000 From Sugar Interests

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The senate lobby investigating committee will meet Monday to review evidence concerning a report that one senator received a $100,000 gift from sugar interests during debates on the 1930 tariff act.

The committee's investigators, it is understood, have found no evidence to support the charge. They did find that one senator "dabbled" in the stock of a sugar subsidiary company about one year before the tariff bill came into the senate. They could find no evidence connecting this stock transaction with the sugar tariff fight.

Monday's session was called today by Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, who assumed charge upon the death of Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas, the committee chairman.

While the report did not mention the senator's name Senator James J. Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, has publicly denied having received any sugar stock in connection with the tariff act.

COLLEGE GIRLS' PROBLEMS BIG AS CENTURY AGO

Burning Candle At Both Ends One Of Big Problems

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—"The modern college girl has just as many problems as her sister of a century ago, who wore hoop skirts and bustles, and who had a hard time convincing the world that she was strong enough and alert enough for college work."

Thus did Miss Lilah M. Vaughan, professor of economics and adviser to women students at Boston University's school of education, summarize the situation.

"The college girl today does not have to face community opposition to college education for girls," declared Dr. Vaughan. "Her problems are those of finance and social adjustment to the college world. The girl comes to college with a feeling of independence and self-sufficiency. For this reason she needs the understanding and counsel of her friends and associates.

"Those who advise her must have an obstinate belief in her worth, for she often meets her first real sorrow, disappointment or disillusionment during college years.

"Burning the candle at both ends is one of the college girl's chief faults," Dr. Vaughan asserted. "The girl is tempted to impair her health in order to put herself through college.

"The result is inefficiency in the classroom, and chagrin coming from a scholastic standing below that of her classmates. More scholarship loans and student aid societies would remedy the situation to a great extent."

Dr. Vaughan believes that the average girl lacks the balance of maturity when she enters college. She advocates a simple religious belief and thoughtful advice and counseling to help her over the difficult period."

1931 Mail Plane Makes 130 Miles, Soars 16,000 Feet

Big Improvement Is Shown Over First Planes Operated

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 20.—The 1931 mail-passenger plane can fly nearly twice as fast and climb twice as high with eleven times as much load as the first air-mail planes, which were surplus equipment of the Army, flown by the Post Office Department.

The record book of E. Hamilton Lee, U. S. air mail pilot, now flying United Air Lines passenger transports, registers the improvement in mail planes.

The first plane operated by the Post Office Department in 1918 had a 150-horsepower engine which carried 200 pounds of mail at 75 miles per hour, the record shows. This was supplanted with planes having the 400-h. p. Liberty motor. They could carry 600 pounds of mail at 80 miles per hour and could climb to 10,000 feet. Then came the familiar De Haviland type and they were used for six years flying the mail. They could cruise 90 miles an hour with 600 pounds of payload and get up as high as 12,000 feet with full load.

When private companies took over the various air mail routes in 1927, newer types of planes began to appear on the airways. The latest plane in regular service on the 2,776-mile air span between the Statue of Liberty and the Golden Gate is the Boeing "Monomail," a low-wing, all-metal monoplane. This 575-h. p. motored plane, with five passengers and a thousand pounds of mail, according to the record, cruises 130 miles an hour with eleven times the load of the mail ship of yesteryear, and can climb to a ceiling of 16,000 feet.

This is a hard era for famous Als. One of the mcouldn't get in and the other couldn't keep out.

Winging Along with Father

You've heard of sons following in fathers' footsteps, but rarely does one see a father and son flying together like Captain Harry G. Montgomery (top right) and his son, Second Lieut. Harry, Jr., who are both members of the U. S. Army Air Corps, and are shown as they appeared at Bolling Field, Washington, D. C., recently. But lest you think that the Army has put something over on the Navy, the lower picture shows another father and son combination. Ensign John Raby (right) recently qualified as a naval aviator at Pensacola, Fla., is shown with his father, Rear-Admiral James J. Raby, who was similarly qualified in 1926.

Divorce Joins Big Business Class

Reno Counts Up Cash Which Flows Its Way Since Six-Weeks' Law

RENO, Nev., Nov. 20.—Ties that fettered more than 3,000 unhappily married couples were severed by the Reno courts during the first half year of Navada's new six weeks divorce law.

During the same six months it is estimated that Reno divorce lawyers were enriched by nearly $500,000 and approximately $128,000 was paid out in court and filing fees.

Enacted by the last legislature as a "boon to humanity", the law cutting to six weeks the required legal residence in Nevada has more than fulfilled the fondest expectations of its authors and has resulted definitely in the graduation of divorce into the big business class.

The 3,217 divorce complaints filed in Reno during the last six months alone exceeded by more than 1,000 the high total for any preceding 12 months in the history of Washoe county. A corresponding increase was noted in several of the 16 other counties in Nevada.

Marital misfits from every state in the Union, the District of Columbia, Philippine Islands, Hawaii and 13 foreign countries were in the grist ground out by the six-week mill since the wheels began turning May 1, effective date of the new law.

Sons of the wealthy barons and baronesses, the wife of an opera singer, artists, directors of talking pictures, a former heavyweight boxing champion, business leaders and just plain everyday people were included in the heterogeneous collection.

The mill whirred at its greatest speed during July, when 707 complaints were filed with the Washoe county clerk. In May 517 complaints were filed, 189 of them on a single day; in June there were 357. August 668, September 572 and so far this month 396. Reno's two divorce judges granted 112 decrees on June 20.

An estimate today was that each one of the 3,217 divorce seekers paid an average attorney's fee of $150. Court and filing fees average about $40. Many more thousands were spent for entertainment and living expenses, which are not low in Reno.

Among those who got their divorces here were Jack Dempsey, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett, Lady Inverclyde, who was the British musical comedy star, "June"; Peter Arno, the caricaturist; Dorothy Doster Lyson, Denver heiress, and a few dozen society people from various sections of the country.

Pointed Toes In Shoes Forecast In Fashionland

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 20.—Parisian feet, and this means legs as well, may go bronze this winter, continuing the sunburn fashion which has been so popular all summer.

Bronze slippers are being worn for formal afternoon as well as evening wear, with many smart brown costumes. Sheer brown hosiery matches the bronze kid as closely as possible. Jean Patou probably started the bronze craze when he put Costa's bronze pumps on his pretty mannequins wearing his latest creations in the fashionable caroub brown.

Bronze shoes are only another revival of the romantic past and some of the shoe designers are even hinting at others which would undoubtedly cause a big stir in the fashion circles, such as the very pointed toes of the late 70's and the high-buttoned boot of the 80's.

Mesh stockings are not as popular on this side of the water, very plain hose being the most worn, even sans embroidery on the sides. Dusky shades, but not dull black are most generally worn and it is not likely that black will be coming back very soon.

Quiet lines and darker shades are also prominent for shoes. Pumps with trim leather bows are good for street wear, with patent leather receiving increasing attention. Box-calf and kid in black and brown are very much worn. Open shank evening pumps come in crepe de chine with very high slender heels.

GOLD PANNING IS IN FAVOR AGAIN

(International News Service)

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 20—Turning to panning gold for their bacon, beans and flour, scores of men in the three northwestern states have camped by streams during the past year. And as a result, more of the precious metal has been offered for sale this year than in many a year before. Mostly it is shipped in by storekeepers, and ranges in value from $6 to $15 a lot, and sometimes as much as $70. Nearly all of it is taken from placers, where it may be secured easily. More gold pans have been sold this year than in all the five years previously, it is reported.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

RURAL PLAYERS HOLD DRAMA TOURNAMENT

"All the world's a stage——" or so it seems right now in many sections of Lawrence county this week. Four communities have prepared one-act plays to be given in the first annual dramatic tournament at Mt. Jackson on November 24. The performances will be given in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Lawrence county is one of 33 Pennsylvania counties holding these contests this fall preliminary to selecting entries for a state-wide rural one-act play tournament as a feature of the annual farm show at Harrisburg. The following is a list of the organizations and the plays they will present:

Big Beaver grange—"No Sabe."

Liberty grange—"Just Like a Woman."

Westfield grange—"The Valiant."

Willard grange—"The Neighbors."

The dramatic contest is aimed to stimulate a form of self-expression that is of generally recognized value. This activity is a part of a program in rural recreation carried on under the direction of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension association. Assisting the local extension representative is a county committee made up of the following rural leaders: Herbert Leslie, Mrs. Fred Sceley.

MULCH STRAWBERRIES WHEN GROUND FREEZES

Mulching often increases the yield of strawberries 20 per cent in Lawrence county. Not only is the yield increased, but cleaner, larger fruit results from this practice, and better prices invariably are paid for the berries.

Whenever the ground freezes several inches deep the mulch can be applied. Wheat straw is the best material to use. Rye straw is next best. Oats straw has a tendency to pack tightly and smother the plants. Potato vine, leaves and corn stalks, while too coarse for best results, are better than no protection at all. Whatever the material used it should be free from weed seed, timothy or grain. Otherwise, the strawberry planting will become weedy.

Mulching material should be hauled to points in the field from which the mulching can be done with a minimum of walking. If the material is hauled several weeks before it is to be placed on the strawberry rows, the fall rain and dews will dampen it sufficiently so that it will remain in place when put there. Dry straw will blow away.

Four or five inches of mulch will be enough to keep the soil from heaving excessively during the winter. This will require about four tons of straw an acre.

SAVE BEES THROUGH WINTER PROTECTION

Winter protection is an essential part of a successful beekeeping program.

When protected by a well-built packing case bees do not need to expend so much energy to maintain the cluster temperature. Their lives are prolonged and the amount of food required for the winter is less under proper protection. Prevailing winds also lose part of their chill.

In the higher and nothern sections of the state six inches of packing on all sides and the top of the hive and four inches under neath are necessary. In naturally protected locations of the southern and southwestern sections of the state, packing may not be necessary for successful wintering, but even there it protects the bees so they can expand the brood chamber and build up more rapidly during early spring. Four inches of packing is sufficient for the average location.

Complete directions for building the packing case and the use of materials can be obtained from the Agricultural extension association office.

SPRAYER NEEDS CAREFUL ATTENTION AND STORAGE

Some types of farm machinery can be pulled into the implement shed at the end of the season and left until the following spring without damaging results. This is not true of the sprayer and spray equipment. Such a practice is neither advisable nor economical.

Various parts of a spray pump, such as cylinders, plungers and valves, are fitted with exact precision. Lack of care in storing may result in rust, corrosion or freezing which will cause permanent damage to essential parts.

In preparing the sprayer for winter storage the first step should be that of flushing the tank, pump, hose and pipe connections with clean water. After this operation is complete, be sure that all working parts are thoroughly drained. Oil is the best insurance against rust and corrosion, therefore all working parts need oil. All adjustment connections, as well as the nozzles, should be oiled to facilitate operation and ease of adjustment the following season.

Since the sprayer represents the largest investment of the spray equipment, it should receive attention first. However, it is just as important that other equipment and spray materials be properly stored and cared for. Time devoted to occasional painting of the various equipment, proper care and storage of barrels, pails, hose and mixing tools will prove to be good economy. A good strainer will last for years if it is well oiled at the end of the season to stop the corroding effect of the copper solution. Lime and copper sulphate require a dry storage place. Lime must be kept airtight as air-slacked lime is useless for making bordeaux mixture.

FARM SHORT COURSE TO OPEN JANUARY 4

Winter short courses in agriculture at the Pennsylvania State college will begin January 4 and end February 26, 1932, Dean R. L. Watts of the school of agriculture announces.

Three 2-week courses in dairy manufacturing also will be offered. Testing dairy products and tutter and cheese making will be taught January 4 to 16, ice cream making January 18 to 30 and market milk and milk control February 1 to 13.

A special group of subjects has been arranged for those who desire to prepare for cow testing work.

Elks Will Shape Coming Programs

Members of the local Elks lodge will gather for their regular bimonthly meeting in the lodge home on Wednesday, November 25 at 8 o'clock.

The members will further plans for the coming of Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church at Pittsburgh, announced speaker for the lodge's annual Memorial service on December 6.

On December 9 the members will play host to their district deputy grand exalted ruler, J. G. Bohlender.

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated, just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.

Pennsylvania In No Danger From Water Shortage

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Pennsylvania, with the exception of the Pottsville district, is facing no immediate danger of a water shortage, state officials made known Thursday following a survey.

The extended dry spell, however, has depleted many underground water reserves and streams in many cases are lower than they were during the drought last year. While the state at large is not suffering from a water shortage, the state health department warned that unless there is considerable rainfall before the winter freezing sets in, many sections will find themselves in trouble.

Three New Castle Men Witnesses In Trial Of Atlantic Drug Co. Pair

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 20.—Three New Castle residents on Thursday headed a long line of witnesses in criminal court who told how they purchased allegedly worthless stock in the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company, two of whose officials David S. Hammon, president, and J. Ritchie, a salesman, are on trial for fraudulent conspiracy.

The three New Castle witnesses were: M. J. Scanlon, Alphonso Scarazzo and Clyde Badger, all testified they purchased the stock after solicitation and inducement by "high pressure" methods. They also said salesmen made glowing promises of large dividends which the drug company was slow in fulfilling.

Scanlon said he invested $100 in the company's stock and Scarazzo testified he purchased $300 worth of the stock certificates. Badger paid $10 down on a $100 purchase of the certificates.

Hammond and Ritchie were indicted on silmar charges in Lawrence county but the charges were nolle prossed to allow Allegheny county officials to proceed with their prosecution. Six other officials of the company were scheduled to go on trial with Hammond and Ritchie but they were never apprehended by police.

The two officials were scheduled to take the stand late today in their own defense.

Other witnesses who testified as to their purchase of stock and the amounts of their investments were: L. L. Glendenning, Irwin, $2,500; W. L. Graham, Trafford, $100; Burt Smith, Wilkinsburg, $200; W. B. McWilliams, Irwin, $2,500; James R. McKenzie, Pittsburgh, $200; Francis G. Mills, Ingram, $700, and Charles Allen, Pittsburgh, $30 paid on a $100 purchase.

WHAT NEW CASTLE SCHOOLS ARE DOING

Under the general caption of "Know Your School Series," a series of bulletins has been prepared by various teachers of the New Castle schools dealing with the activities of the schools.

Each bulletin deals with some particular phase of school life in this city and the entire series can be classed as a full description of the school curriculum here.

GUIDANCE

By MARJORIE RHODES

Since the days when the school was satisfied with the teaching of the three R's, educators have moved steadily toward achieving the broader goal of education, that of fitting the child to become an intelligent part of the community, and of being able to work harmoniously in the position for which environment and circumstances have fitted him. But even with this aim, the rapidly growing popularity of secondary education, which necessitated the task of providing buildings and equipment, submerged for the time the problem of giving instruction suited to the individual But with the growth of the guidance movement over the country, schools are placing more and more emphasis on securing true equality of opportunity, an education for each individual in accordance with his interest, needs, abilities and prospects.

The New Castle schools are basing their guidance program, as far as is expedient, on the state program. The object in our system is concerned not only with launching a small part of our public school population into higher institutions of learning, but with every child who comes into the schools. Guidance tends to help him have a better start in life and in our system, to preserve his individuality as he goes from school to school, and to see that he receives preparation suited to his necessities. To achieve this end the following aims and objectives have been followed.

General objectives:

1. To provide an educational service adapted to the individual needs of child and youth.

2. To enrich school service thru adequate articulation with home and community.

Specific aims:

1. To study end, as far as possible, to understand individual differences, beginning with pupils in the kindergarten and in the first grade.

2. To give special attention to the child who is very different from his fellows, and therefore unadjusted to school life.

3. To provide adequate classification of pupils with respect to subject instruction and related school activities.

4. To inform pupils about occupations, curricula in junior high school, high school and higher institutions and their occupational correlations. To promote school attendance thru such information, and also through part-time employment, and curriculum adjustment. To show the value of education.

5. To provide counseling, educational and occupational placement, and follow-up.

6. To stimulate self-guidance.

7. To provide a more complete cooperation with those agencies in the community which can contribute to the development of guidance service.

From the first grade the first specific aims are stressed. Medical inspection is provided for health abnormalities and special attention given to those who are handicapped. Vocational schools offer an opportunity to those who are more adapted to mechanical lines and continuation school provides for those who are forced to do part-time work before reaching the age at which they may withdraw from school.

Beginning with the junior high schools, vocational guidance is given. Information concerning occupations, the curricula and its function with these occupations, are explained so that wiser selection of courses can be made. There is a very important phase of guidance. If the student is helped in the selection of his course, time is saved for him. If he does not understand what course to elect, not only may he take subjects which do not fit him for the work he desires to do, but also he may become discouraged in attempting to follow subjects for which he is not suited. Regular class instruction is given during the seventh and eighth grades in the vocational field. Contact is made with the senior high school during the ninth year. The different courses offered in the senior high school, their requirements for graduation, and the fields for which they train are explained to the pupils. Later guidance is given them in selecting their courses and in the making of their election cards for the senior high school.

In following the objectives of guidance in the senior high school, particular attention is given to the last four in the state program; that of occupational education, counseling, self-guidance, and participation with community agencies. Realizing that the high school pupil especially needs individual counsel, from the fact of his age, from the fact that he is faced with the necessity of taking his place shortly in a complex occupational world, the guidance committee attempts to give him as much individual counseling as possible. The school realizes its responsibility in this matter not only in order that he may be satisfactorily adjusted to the school, but also that after graduation he may have the proper adjustment of the individual to life, both as a worker and as a citizen of the community. The purpose of education results not from knowledge gained from books alone, but more specifically from guidance. It is highly desirable that the individual be helped to secure this adjustment for his own mental and physical health and happiness, and that society be given a citizen who is economically independent and a social asset.

In working toward this end, guidance in the high school has developed in three definite lines: personnel research, counseling and orientation. The basis of counseling is a continuous scientific study of pupils as individuals. In this research the high school is working on the following program:

1. Records of attendance, health and achievements are received from the junior high schools for problem pupils and a continuous record kept. Records are begun in the sophomore year for all students.

2. The Otis intelligence test is given to every member of the senior class, and the result compared with that of the junior test. This record is required by all colleges and by many employers and is a helping factor in placement.

3. Self-analysis blanks are filled out by each student. While these are beneficial as reference material for recommendations to higher schools and employers, their chief value lies in the help given to the pupil in self-guidance. Other aptitude and educational tests are given when thought wise by the counselor or when requested by pupil or parent.

4. Pupil adjustment in class grouping is arranged.

5. Follow-up reports of graduates are made the first and second year after graduation. By the study of this report better curricula adjustments can be made.

6. Records, pamphlets and catalogues of schools of higher education are available in the guidance office and the school library.

The counseling is, of course, based on findings of the personnel research, on the result of many interviews, and conferences with parents and teachers. Interviews are usually more satisfactory when sought by the individual, but since many pupils would not take the initiative, provision is made for all pupils. The following objectives serve as the basis of required conferences:

1. Drop-outs.
2. Checking unwise electives.
3. Special problems of absence, health and failures.
4. Periodic check-up on educational progress.
5. Junior check-up on subjects carried to see that they are preparing for desired field.
6. All seniors before graduation.

Orientation includes group guidance in various questions of conduct and ideals, and in the giving of educational and occupational information. From interviews and the study of personnel records a list of common problems is accumulated. These are dealt with through group instruction. This work is carried on by special chapel programs, group meetings and home room projects. The following are the essential function of this part of the guidance program:

1. The hand book of the school, an explanation of rules, courses of instruction, clubs and necessary regulations, is given to in-coming sophomores and explained by the student council member in the home room.

2. How to study pamphlets are given to each pupil at the beginning of the term. In addition to this each department has prepared pamphlets dealing with the method of studying each particular subject. At the beginning of the year instruction in preparation of lessons is given by all subject teachers.

3. Charts of vocations, their requirements, returns and other valuable information is in the hands of each home room teacher for the pupils' reference.

4. Material on leading colleges is given out through the home room from time to time.

5. Vocational opportunities are presented in chapel programs by leaders in the community and group meetings held. The Business and Professional Woman's club as well as other organizations in the community have cooperated with this work.

The purpose of the guidance department in our school is the hope that there will be a more rigid interest in the boy and girl, rather than in the mere organization of the school., Their success or failure will call for a more careful study of methods. Instruction and administration will become more devoted to serving the individual needs of the pupil. As the program develops, fewer drop-outs should occur. Standards of scholarship should gradually rise. Friendly interest in the student body should result in a better morale of the student body. The graduates should be better informed about the future and how to face it more intelligently.

For the first ten months of the present year, the total was 1599 fatalities, or 69 more than the total for a similar period in 1930.

Couple Arrested, Child Tortured

Couple Held By Police For Alleged Inhuman Treatment Of Kidnaped Girl

(International News Service)

MASSENA, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Charged with cruelly stabbing, burning and otherwise torturing Irene Pasno, 7, William McNamara and his wife, Lila, were held by authorities at Canton, N. Y.

Vermont officials were notified of the arrest of the couple.

Citizens Warned About Shares In Mythical Estates

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Residents of Pennsylvania Thursday again were warned to guard against contributions to individuals who promise them shares in mythical ...

The department recently has received a number of inquiries regarding a supposed trust left by former president James Buchannan and queries indicate that the former president, who left no direct heirs, established a huge trust fund which will expire next year.

As the business of the department of revenue is to levy taxes upon various forms of property, officials usually are as anxious as the supposed heirs to locate "forgotten estates."

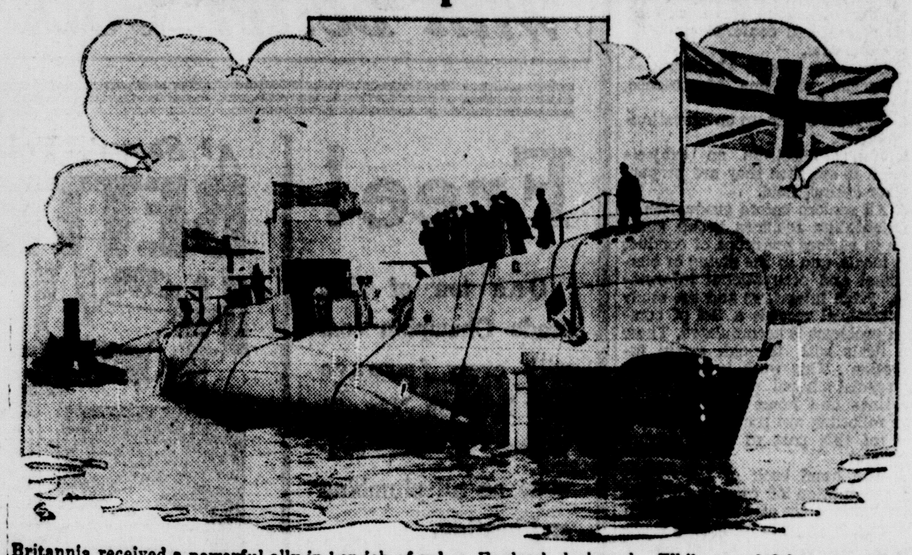
Bridge Under Water

A high pressure game—that's what this is! If you're skeptical take cognizance of the fact that these bridge players, or maybe it's poker, are under 35 pounds of pressure. For they are spending a few minutes in a decompression lock before emerging into normal atmospheric conditions following their labor in the tubes under the East River, New York. Pressure of air in the tubes is 38 pounds and if the men, working in hour-and-a-half shifts, were to go direct to the surface, they would suffer from the formation of nitrogen bubbles in their blood.

Latest to Help Britannia Rule



Britannia received a powerful ally in her job of ruling the waves when the new British submarine "Swordfish," the latest and most modern undersea fighting craft afloat, was launched at the Chatham, England, dockyard. While sword fishes are not exactly the type of finny creature you'd make a house pet of, this "Swordfish" is certain to be far more deadly than the undersea creature it is named after if occasion ever demands.

NOTED BANK TO GET NEW BUILDING

As long as the late George F. Baker, dean of New York bankers, lived, the First National bank, at the corner of Broadway and Wall Streets, New York, clung to its ancient modest structure. But a few weeks ago the structure literally began to show signs of tumbling down—and now it's being torn down to make way for a 20-story structure, of a modest height for the Wall Street canyon.

Young "Reds" at Anniversary

These diminutive members of the Russian Soviets were snapped as they carried a banner in the gigantic display which marked the observance of the 14th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution in Moscow. Picked Soviet troops totaling some 40,000 men marched past the imposing tomb of Lenin, but these youngsters attracted more attention than the soldiers as they trudged along. Note the one on the extreme right.

John D. Off for Sunny South

Ministers Lead Pickets

Leaders in the Lawrence, Mass., picket lines became ministerial the other day when the Rev. Glenn Trimble and the Rev. Arthur Fauss, both graduates of the Boston University Theological School, went on picket duty with striking textile mill workers. Here are the two pastors as they joined the demonstration of strikers against the proposed 10 per cent wage cut.

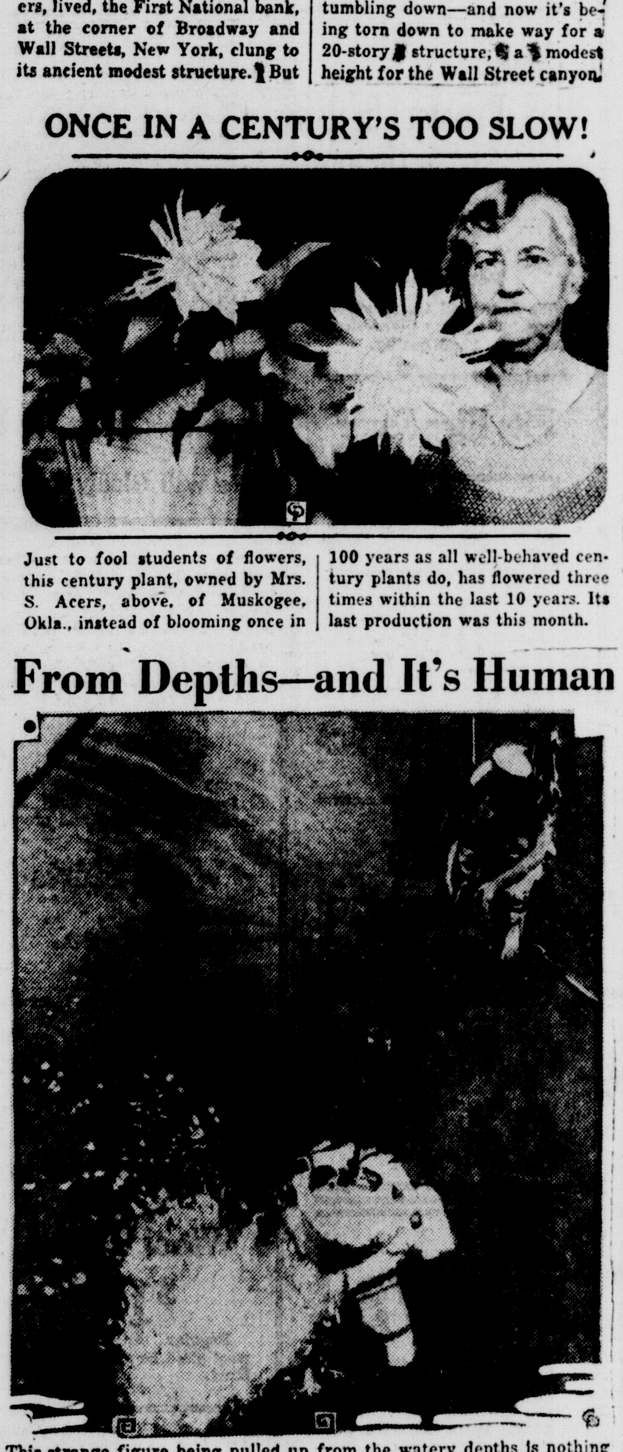
Doug Fairbanks, the acrobatic movie star, with his wife, Mary Pickford, are shown on the S. S. Mary had to return to Hollywood to prepare for a new picture, the story of which she obtained in New York.

From Depths—and It's Human



This strange figure being pulled up from the watery depths is nothing more exciting than a man—even though the general effect may far more resemble an undersea monster than a human being. The man is encased in one of the new metal-shell diver's outfits, a new departure in the business of exploration far under the surface. The diver is with the new Italian salvage ship "Artigio," which is seeking buried treasure.

As Grandi Honored 'Unknown'

Although his manner of presenting the honor salute differs from that of Brigadier-General E. T. Collins, of the U. S. Army, shown with him, the spirit behind the Fascist gesture of Signor Dino Grandi is the same. The photo was made just after the visiting Italian statesman had placed a wreath upon the tomb of the "Unknown Soldier" in Arlington National Cemetery. The youthful Foreign Minister is in the United States for a series of conferences with President Hoover on international affairs.

New History at Monticello

Making history on a spot which already has contributed more than its share to the history of America, Jim Ray landed his autogiro in the grounds of historic Monticello, the old home of Thomas Jefferson, near Charlottesville, Va. The purpose of the visit was to deliver to the "Freedom of the Press" committee a signed endorsement from President Hoover of the dedication of a room in the old mansion. It was Jefferson who put a clause in the Constitution guaranteeing the freedom of the press.

Question Several In Girl's Death

Wheeling Youths Known To Have Been Friendly With Slain Girl, Questioned

HUSBAND DENIES KILLING WIFE

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 20—Police today questioned several youths known to have been friendly with Mrs. Marie Burch Doyle, 17, who was found strangled to death in "Lover's Lane" on a hill overlooking the city.

More than 20 persons have already been questioned but police reported little progress in their investigation.

Dudley Doyle, salesman husband of the slain young wife, was held in jail although he denied any connection with the slaying.

Mail Requests For Auto Tags

By So Doing Now Christmas Mail Service Will Be Expedited

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Pennsylvania motor vehicle owners can aid the Christmas "early mailing" campaign of the Post Office Department by posting their applications for 1932 registration now, the bureau of motor vehicles of the State Department of Revenue announces.

"Mail your 1932 applications for motor registration now," said a bureau statement. "By doing so you will clear the way for the heavy pre-Christmas mail. Not only will motor vehicle owners help relieve Pennsylvania Post Office employes of the additional burden of handling applications and tags along with Christmas mail but they also will be aiding the bureau of motor vehicles in the prompt and efficient performance of its duty.

"Send in your application now and get your tags before the Christmas mail rush is on. Your 1932 tags can be used on and after December 15. The Post Office Department is co-operating with the State Department of Revenue in facilitating prompt delivery of license plates. Let automobile owners co-operate with both by mailing applications now."

Perpetual Banishment For Former King Alfonso By Republican Cortes

IS REGARDED AS "OUTLAW"

(International News Service)

MADRID, Nov. 20—Former King Alfonso was convicted of treason today by the Republican Cortes and sentenced to perpetual banishment of Spain.

The Cortes reached its decision by acclamation after a riotous all-night session in which the ex-king was defended by Count Romanones, former cabinet minister of the monarchy.

Under the statue proved by the assembly, Alfonso, now living in France, will be regarded as an "outlaw" in Spain, and any citizen of the Republic will be authorized to seize him and turn him over to the authorities should he ever return to Spanish soil.

FLIES SENT TO AUSTRALIA

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, Que.—An army of Canadian flies, the pride of Canada's insect world, have been sent to Australia to wage war on the sugar cane bore, an insect which is causing considerable damage in the sugar plantations near Brisbane. The fly lays its eggs on the grub, which becomes the unwilling incubator and eventually the source of food for the fly's offspring, which is a small worm. This results in the death of the grub, and the worm, having attained robust maturity is metamorphosed into a fly. This cycle is repeated, much to the annoyance and discomfort of succeeding generations of grubs.

Big Planes Give U. S. Problem In Strain On Ear

Fearful That Noise Will Injure Ears Of Pilots

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Fearful that high-powered motors designed for military aircraft will injure the ears of pilots, the Navy has tackled the job of reducing ear drum strain.

Tests have been begun under the direction of Lieut.-Commander Joel J. White in charge of naval aviation medicine to determine just how much damage the big motors will inflict upon the pilots who sit behind them for hours at a time. Then White will compare the results with tests of hearing in connection with constant use of the lower-powered motors, and try to work out some method of relief for the pilots.

"We don't want to wait until after the damage has been done," White said. "If we did not take some precaution the Navy might find a lot of its pilots deaf within a year or more. The smaller motors haven't hurt any ears that we know of, but there's a lot of difference between riding behind a two hundred horsepower engine and six hundred, roaring away directly in front of the cockpit."

The matter of blocking out virtually all sound was regarded as a comparatively simple one, but some means must be worked out whereby this could be accomplished and equaly pressure on the eardrums maintained. In the case of military aviation, where the planes are used for diving from tremendously high altitudes, steeply towards the ground unless the ears are free to adjust air pressure within and without, ruptured drums might easily result, it was pointed out.

Cotton has been the only substance found suitable for reducing sound on the ear drums in flying at present. Its porous qualities allow the air to move through without interference, and, while softening sound waves, does not block pressure equalization.

Outside of the noise factor, White said the new high-powered planes would have no injurious effects on pilots. Vibration from an airplane motor is to some extent absorbed in the parachute packs upon which the military pilots sit, he added, and little difficulty is experienced from vibration.

GOOD BARGAIN

Betty—You mean thing! You said you wouldn't give away that secret I told you.

Bertha—I didn't. I exchanged it for another secret and a chocolate sundae.

We Don't Monopolize!

Last week we sold in our market four whole carcasses of baby steers, 2,300 pounds of pork loins, pork shoulders, sausage and fresh hams; four of those good home dressed spring lambs and approximately 1,700 pounds of smoked meats, lard and luncheon meats; 2,652 loaves of potato bread, 112 dozen doughnuts, 486 pies (all kinds) and a big lot of cakes, cookies, buns and rolls that I didn't keep track of; 386 bushels of potatoes, five crates iceburg lettuce, 22 baskets curly lettuce, 28 baskets of hot house tomatoes and a lot of spinach, onions, radishes, squash; and the grocery business was just as good in proportion as in the other departments. We also sold 422 chickens and 1½ barrels of that good home-made sauer kraut. Now folks, I certainly appreciate the wonderful breaks you are giving us. We don't monopolize the meat and grocery business. You are not compelled to come to our market, but you are compelled to go to the public utility companies for their product because they do monopolize, and they don't know the war is over. There must be a reason that so many of my friends come to my market, and the only way I can dope it out is that they know that Bill Kerber and Bill Burrows (my two right-hand men) and myself are co-operating with them to lower their living costs and that we are helping the farmers market their products profitably. We don't want to monopolize because I believe that monopolistic control, mass production and chain system of merchandizing is partially responsible for the condition of our country today.

If you can afford it, don't forget the annual Red Cross Roll Call, as they are depending on your subscription to carry on their humanitarian program.

Now let's talk about your Thanksgiving dinner. We've all had a tough time so far this year; disappointments and inactiveness have played their part. Now we are coming into the holiday season and we want to make the best of it and be happy. We all want the best foodstuffs we can possibly obtain. Folks, we have everything that you want to make a Thanksgiving dinner fit for a king: Cranberries, Oranges, Bananas, Sweet Potatoes, Spinach, Stuffed Figs and Dates, Candy, Fruit Cake, all kinds of Pastry, meat that will tickle your palate. Oh, boy, what a meal these things would make. Our Turkeys, Chickens and Ducks are fed on buttermilk and oatmeal to be sure they will be O. K., and the best of it all they are all real lively, healthy birds and we dress them for you free.

Let me have a word with you concerning hog dressed and cold storage poultry. Hog dressed means poultry killed and just the feathers removed. Cold storage means a place for storing perishable products for limited periods. Now we all know that it is impossible to get the foodstuff entirely out of the entrails of any fowl at the time of slaughtering. This remaining food in a very short time becomes sour and ferments, throwing off a gass which circulates through the carcass and produces a gaseous taste which cannot be eliminated. Come in and pick out your bird, see it alive and then you can go home and enjoy your Thanksgiving dinner.

Just glance at my prices on veal from home dressed calves for this week-end that Kerber got in the country. We deliver to your home.

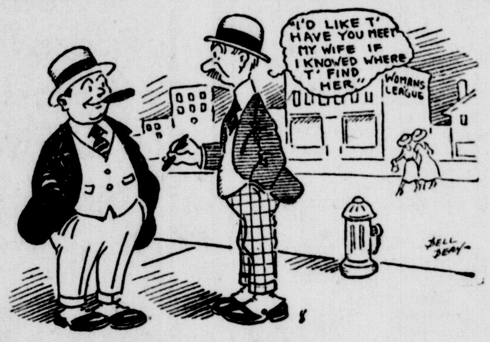
On Th' Modern Woman



TH' WOMAN OUT O' TH' HOME

We've read an' heard a lot about 'th' woman in th' home," but we've never seen nor heard nothin' about th woman out o' th' home till we picked up last week's Sliphorn an' read an article on th' subject by Mrs. Tillie Mopps. Among other things she says: "It would be interestin' t' know what effect th' woman out o' th' home is havin' on th' economic affairs o' th' nation—whether she's doin' more good by identifyin' herself with affairs outside o' th' home than she used t' accomplish by lookin' after th' interior affairs o' th' home as of yore. T'day a husband's activities are largely controlled by his wife's activities. Whatever he plans t' do depends on what she has arranged t' do. This is especially true where there's young children.

"I'll be down t'night if I don't have to' stay home with t' children,' we heard a man say recently when he wuz importuned t' attend an important meetin'. 'It all depends on what my wife is goin' t' do, another man'll say. 'Let us know when you're comin' and I'll try an' have my wife at home,' another man writes t' a friend. 'I'd like t' have you meet my wife if I knowed where t' find her,' I heard a feller say t' a new acquaintance. Sometimes it happens that a wife an' husband'll belong t' th' same dancin' club or literary organization an' thereby see more o' one another than is ordinarily th' case, but as a rule ther paths lie widely apart. When her folks visit them he gits t' eat considerable at home. 'Ther's somethin' we used t' have twice a week when I wuz first married, but I don't like the way the resturints cook 'em,' said a nice fatherly-lookin' gentlemen th' other day as he admired a measure o' fine appetizin' scarlet an' white turnips. 'I'm takin' my canary bird t' th' livery stable t' stay, as he gits lonesome at home,' I heard a young husband remark upon meetin' an acquaintance. 'Oh, help is so hard t' git. I have t' hire a neighbor t' feed our goldfish and let th' meter readers in th' house' complained a married friend o' mine last week. Sometimes a wife an' husband'll miss one another goin' in an' out fer weeks at a time. Really, I don't see how some homes hold t'gether.

"Hello! My wife's been here a feller'll say as he enters his home an' finds somethin' moved."

Three Killed By Benzol Fumes In Tank At Dayton

Three Workmen Enter Tank To Clean It, And Suffer Death By Fumes

VENTILATOR FAILS TO WORK

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Nov. 20.—Three men were fatally overcome by benzol fumes here today while attempting to clean out a benzol storage tank at the Thomas and Hochwalt Labratories.

The victims were:

Walter Besecker, 26, of Arcanum.

George Conrad, 38, of Dayton.

Conrad was married and is the father of two children.

Efforts to revive the three men, who were overcome shortly after they had entered the tank, proved futile. Police and firemen, aided by Charles Lackmeyer, foreman at the laboratory, attempted to resuscitate the victims.

Officials of the labratory said that a ventilator had been blowing throughout the night to sweep out the benzol fumes but that it had apparently failed to purify the air.

Will Continue Library Exhibit

Book Week Exhibit Will Be Continued Until Next Wednesday At Library

By special arrangement the display which has been arranged in the story hour room in the basement of the free public library will be continued until next Wednesday, in order to allow the citizens of the community to view the display, which is an exceptionally clever one.

The display was not opened to the public until Tuesday afternoon, and for this reason many have not had an opportunity to view it. The idea of books by nations is carried out.

This morning Miss Joyce spoke to the assembly at the West Side on the subject of books and their proper appreciation.

Who Is Screen's Greatest Lover?

* * * * * * * * *

Poll of One Hundred Female Movie Fans, in Endeavor to Name Successor to Rudolph Valentino, Reveals Wide Diversity of Opinion

CLARK GABLE and GRETA GARBO — RUDY VALENTINO

Back in the days of John Barrymore's heyday the inquiry as to who was the screen's greatest lover could have only one response. Barrymore stood out among his contemporaries like a moon among a throng of minor satellites. The same is true of the Rudolph Valentino era. The man who, with the magic of his personality, wove an aura of romance about a flea-bitten desert sheik undoubtedly stood alone at the pinnacle of his profession. But who today is fit to wear the mantle of a Barrymore or a Valentino? A poll of one hundred movie fans brought forth many names and recommendations for the honor. Strangely, few remember how a short time ago, before the advent of the talkies, they raved about John Gilbert and how their blood-pressure rose to alarming heights as they watched him in an impassioned love scene with Greta Garbo. Clark Gable, the beetle-browed he-man, who treats his women rough and makes them like it, seems to be the present favorite with the female movie fan. Of late, Gable has modified his sock-'em-and-they'll-love-you tactics and adopted the gentle, thoughtful and generous methods. Many of the fair sex in the poll professed a preference for the lanky Gary Cooper, while the soft-voiced Ramon Novarro also had his supporters. Charles Farrell, too, has his champions, who like his gentle methods of love-making, and still another bloc leans towards the dashing methods of Maurice Chevalier, who woos them with song. Ronald Colman, Low Ayres and Robert Montgomery were also prominently mentioned, but the question is still unanswered. "Who is the screen's greatest lover?"

Reporter Spends Half Hour At Baby Clinic

Don't visit the Well Baby Clinic, sisters, unless you have a baby. Without a baby in your arms you just aren't anybody. You don't fit in, and what's more you don't understand what the excited young mothers are talking about.

Take this reporter's word for it. She went there Thursday and after being gently jogged into a corner behind a set of white enameled scales she gazed silently at and listened bewildered to the scores of babbling mothers with naked babies in their arms.

There must have been a half hundred babies in those rooms on the third floor of the New Castle Dry Goods building, blondes, brunettes, redheads and bald, all sizes, and with many different tones of voice. Complete sentences are hard to write, so here are a few impressions of the delirious half hour:

Babie, in mothers' arms, on tables, on scales, on examination desks, on chairs, and a couple on the floor. Babies, slobbering mischievously, wriggling toes, clasping to furry teddy bears, yowling, gurgling. Babies, atired in blue bonnets and complete lacy outfits, without bonnets, half dressed, in Ghandi outfits, in birthday suits. Babies, fat and rolly polly, long hair and short, red noses and clasped hands. Babies.

Mothers, proud ones, worried ones, lined up before the scales.

Nurses, Mrs. Katherine Lyons, Grace Ackerman and Sara Burckart, intent on weighing each of the very young ones. Babies are laid on scales, record taken of each ounce.

Conversation, well, it was something like this:

"Don't you think you had better take Theresa's shirty off? The weight will be more accurate then. Ah! 17 pounds, 14 ounces. That is a four ounce gain in one week."

"Have you seen Dr. Skole, the examiner, yet? Have you weighed the baby? Alright, take it right in."

"What are you feeding him? He is getting along fine, it seems."

"What adorable eyes your baby has. What is her name? What do you think of my baby? Four months tomorrow. And never sick. Takes after my husband."

"She is going to be fat just like you." "Well, I hope so."

In and out, the babies were brought to the clinic Thursday from 9 o'clock until late noon. Each one stripped, weighed, taken in to the doctor, examined thoroughly for signs of any illness, stamped with approval, clothed again and taken down the elevator to the street.

After watching the process wide eyed from behind the scales, the reporter tried as inconspicuously as possible, to worm her way out of the very busy and noisy mecca, yearning for fresh air and the soothing music of passing traffic.

"Has your baby been weighed yet?"

Investigators In Death Of New York Girl, Located In Boston

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 20.—A secret investigation was underway here in the case of Miss Starr Faithfull, drowned off Long Beach, L. I., last June under suspicious circumstances.

Martin W. Littleton, Jr., assistant district attorney of Nassau county, N. Y., J. B. Mayforth of West Hyde Park, N. Y., and two Nassau county detectives were located here.

Littleton and his aides refused to affirm or deny that their secret mission was in connection with the Starr Faithfull case. However, Police Inspector Harold R. King, prominent figure in the original probe at Mineola, N. He refused to say whether the case was to be officially re-opened or whether an arrest was expected.

The plan of reducing the number of working days was devised, the announcement said, because of the undesirability of making a further reduction in force.

CIGARETTE GIRLS OF ROME AID UNEMPLOYED

ROME, Nov. 20.—Carmen of opera fame is typical, to most people, of a cigarett maker. But the girls in the State Cigarette and Cigar Factory here take life seriously. They volunteered to do two hours work free every month for the four winter months, the equivalent of their wages to behanded over to those of them whose families are hardest hit by unemployment.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Dinner tonight in one of those gaudy halls along Second avenue, where for a dollar you receive an elaborate, rather tasteless meal and an hour of a would-be Broadway floor show ...Rapid mental arithmetic failed to show how the eighty-five or ninety dollars taken in from the guests could float an eleven-piece orchestra (playing into a dummy radio mike), the four performers of the show, a master of ceremonies, the dinner and odds and ends of overhead...And the headwaiter attested the crowd unusually large!...

DEPRESSION? STATE OF MIND! THUNDERS SECRETARY HYDE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 20.—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde told 425 members of the Kansas City real estate board yesterday that "more courage and less cold feet in high places" are needed to lead the way out of depressed conditions.

More men on the job and less men with their eyes on stock tickers," was Hyde's plea. His speech was broadcast.

Declaring that the United States had clung to its high standard of living throughout the period of hard times, Hyde defended relief plans of President Hoover, saying the nation yet would wake to "find Herbert Hoover the rock that rolled back the way of depression."

"Depression!" he shouted at one point in his speech. "It's a state of mind."

"What we need in this country is not a change of laws or a radical change in our institutions, but more bankers with their eyed glued on banking business, rather than on the altitude of their stocks.

"I venture to say that the stock market is a liar and has never been a true barometer of business conditions. The only thing the stock market is doing now is acting as a thermometer registering the temperature of cold feet in high places.

"The only thing wrong with the country now is that some individuals have lost faith and confidence. The avarice of those who fed the boom is matched only by their fear which is beating it down. This fear is a paralyzing and epidemic thing.

"There are those who criticize our system and hold up the Russian system as an example of something better. But the best comparison they can make is to compare the best results in Russia with our failures in America."

"LITTLE TIN SOLDIER" IS BACK IN TOYLAND

(International News Service)

OAKDALE, Cal., Nov. 20.—A toy that will revive pleasant memories among men in their fifties was coming back into its own here today.

It is none other than the "tin soldier".

It was the favorite toy of a half century ago and furnished inspiration to poets and writers of note.

R. Roubos, who came here from Los Angeles several months ago, started the manufacture of the "Little Tin Soldiers" and expected a revival of interest in the toy of long ago.

Low prices of tin and lead and other materials make it possible to put the toy on the market again, he said.

PASTORLESS FLOCKS GET RADIO SERMONS

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—Radio sermons for pastorless rural congregations was advocated here in a resolution approved by the Michigan Council of Churches. The council took the initial step toward using existing broadcasts for services in remote communities with the appointment of a committee to sponsor advance publications of sermons. Small churches, unable to support a minister, will be able to hold regular services with the radio sermon, Rev. Ralph C. McAfee, Detroit, said when he suggested the action.

PAUL IN ROME

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.—Philippians 4:13.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

When the Roman governor Felix learned of Paul's benevolent mission to Jerusalem, bringing gifts of money for the poor relief, he thought he saw the possibility of a bribe for Paul's release from the Caesarean prison: "He hoped that money would be given him of Paul: Wherefore also he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him." Thus two years passed until Felix was succeeded by Festus, who was just about to remand Paul to Jerusalem for trial, when Paul, knowing the impossibility of a fair trial there despite his innocence, cut the whole mass of red tape by claiming his right as a Roman citizen of appeal to Caesar.

Paul Appeals To Caesar

"Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: . . . For if I be an offender, or have committed anything worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me unto them. I appeal unto Caesar. Then Festus when he had conferred with the council answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go." Thus Paul made his earthly citizenship serve his heavenly citizenship as he had done on other occasions. He secured for himself a change of venue, removed his case forever from the prejudice emanating from Jerusalem, and fulfilled for himself the longing he had often expressed, saying, "I must also see Rome."

En Route To Rome

There was so little basis in Roman law for the charges laid against Paul that Felix was considerably embarrassed to know how to formulate the charges, and called upon King Agrippa for counsel in his predicament. The occasion gave Paul another opportunity of bearing testimony to his faith in Jesus Christ as his Lord and Saviour, and even of appealing to Agrippa to give up his sinful ways and accept Christ as his Saviour, an appeal which Agrippa rejected with contempt as he snarled, "With but little persuasion thou would fain make me a Christian"

With characteristic Roman expediency Paul soon was en route to Rome, the pronouns in the account indicating that "Luke the beloved physician" accompanied him. It was to require three different ships and much of the seasons of fall, winter and spring to make the journey, but regardless of hurricane, shipwreck and other opposing forces, Paul was assured a safe journey's end by the angel of God appearing to him in the storm and saying, "Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Caesar: and lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee." This confidence Paul communicated to fellow prisoners, passengers and crew as he virtually took command of the ship and directed in the rescue of all on board.

Paul Preaches In Prison

Having wintered on the island of Malta where all were shipwrecked, Paul was brought to Rome attended by loving brethren who joined his party from place to place along the line. He was shown every possible courtesy by the Roman centurion whose prisoner he was: "And when we entered Rome, Paul was suffered to abide by himself with the soldier that guarded him. . . . And he abode two whole years in his own hired dwelling, and received all that went in unto him, preaching the Kingdom of God, and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with all boldness, no man forbidding him."

(The International Uniform Lesson for November 22 is Acts 25:1-12; 28:16-30, the subject being "Paul in Rome," and the Golden Text, Phil. 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengthened me.")

SEES FIRST MOVIE AS HE REACHES 70

TOLEDO, Nov. 20—E. F. Cochrane, of Toledo, has lived three-score years and ten, but yesterday, for the first time, he saw a motion picture.

This wonder of the 20th century was unfolded before the aged man's eyes when he and other members of the jury in the bribery trial of Deputy Sheriff Clarence E. Honberger were taken by court bailiffs to see a show.

Mr. Cochrane confessed that he had denied himself attendance upon theatrical productions because of religious scruples, but after seeing and hearing the drama upon the silver screen, expressed his amazement at what he saw.

Two Firemen Overcome In Fighting Fire At Tyrone, Pa., Today

NEWSPAPER PLANT SUFFERS DAMAGE

(International News Service)

TYRONNE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Two firemen were overcome and damage exceeding $100,000 resulted today from fire which swept the building occupied by Garman and Sons, one of the largest dry goods stores in Central Pennsylvania.

Buildings adjoining the Garman block on either side, one occupied by the Tyrone Herald, afternoon newspaper, and the other by the John Fisher Hardware company, were damaged by smoke and water.

The Herald estimated damage to its building at $3,000, and the hardware company suffered damage amounting to $5,000.

Firemen Overcome

Originating in the furnace room of the Garman block, the fire spread rapidly to the store rooms and to apartments on the second and third floors.

It started about 7 a. m., and was under control three hours later. The two firemen who were overcome fighting the stubborn flames were rushed to the Altoona City hospital for treatment.

Despite the damage to the Herald's plant the newspaper, owned by B. C. Jones, Jr., announced that it would continue publication without interruption.

"UNHAPPY CHILD" PROBLEM

(International News Service)

BOSTON—"The unhappy or depressed child is a far more serious problem to the wise mother and father than the merely 'naughty child,' Professor W. Linwood Chase of Boston University's School of Education told members of the Billerica Parent-Teacher Association. "Perhaps the parents misbehave while the children are on their best behavior" asserted this well-known authority on education and child training." "Adults often act hastily and thoughtlessly when the best cure is the one that looks for the motives behind the naughtiness, and bases the cure on these. Being a 'bad boy' or a 'naughty girl' is not of outstanding significance."

Italian Minister Gets Delayed Welcome In Metropolis Early This Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Dino Grandi, foreign minister of Italy, arrived in New York this morning to receive the official greeting of the city of New York.

The minister stepped from the city welcoming tug Macom to the historic Battery at 8:40 a. m.

An army of police, facing the crowd, lined Broadway as Grandi and his party moved up through the towering skyscrapers toward city hall. The reception was marred by fog and a light drizzle.

"And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to his lodging; to whom he expounded and testified the Kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening. And some believed the things that were spoken, and some believed not. And when they agreed not among themselves, they departed."

U. S. Will Not Attend Further League Sessions

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Confronted with the statement given out by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in Paris today, that the United States would support but would not further attend the League of Nations council's sessions during its discussions of the Manchurian crisis, Secretary of State Stimson today maintained a determined silence.

Stimson said he was "working very hard" on the whole problem, but was not prepared to amplify or comment upon the Dawes statement. He gave the impression that some definite action by this government was imminent, but declined to give a hint of what that action might be.

He did indicate, however, that this would be along the same line as the action pursued by this government ever since the Manchurian crisis occurred. That is by direct diplomatic representations to Japan and China, in support of but entirely independent of the representations made by the league council. This strengthens the belief that new diplomatic representations were being prepared here for early presentation to Toyko and Nanking.

Jack And Jill, College Couple, War On Expense

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—The financial hill that father traveled up they went to college—has proved a little too steep this year, and Jack and Jill and father all have come tumbling down to a much lower level of school expenditures, California universities reveal.

For instance, Jack and his college friends are making fewer excursions to San Francisco and other cities over week-ends—chiefly because Jack and his friends have fewer cars now. Student owned automobiles have declined.

Jill is willing to ride on street cars and doesn't insist on a taxi. Furthermore, she is said by soda fountain clerks to be perfectly willing to drink cocoa cola, or any other five per cent beverage without hinting for one of those fancy lime freezes.

Both at Stanford and the University of California, fraternities and sororities are turning from the use of high-priced dance orchestras, and giving student musicians more employment.

SEES GANDHI AS CURIOUS MIXTURE

PARIS, Nov. 20.—The "Gandhi Cocktail" is the most recent discovery of Maurice Dekobra, well-known French writer.

"Gandhi," writes the Frenchman in a recent number of "Les Annales," "is one of the most astonishing psychological cocktails ever found on the Asiatic continent; a curious mixture of the two civilizations, Oriental and Occidental. He studied in England and knows the English language perfectly.

"He is a mixture of asceticism and austerity, a bit of wit and has a profound feeling for humanity. All those who suffer in body or spirit are his friends. Gandhi is a great soul in a frail body."

COLLEGE PAPER EDITORS QUIT

Douds And Hunter Resign Posts On Westminster College Weekly

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 20.—Frank Douds, Beaver, editor-in-chief of the Westminster Holcad, and David Hunter, Bellevue, sports editor of the student weekly, tendered their resignation to the faculty committee on publications yesterday. The resignations are to take effect following next Tuesday's issue. Both men are members of the Phi Pi Phi fraternity and both are seniors.

Claiming that there has not been enough editorial assistance on the part of the students, that there is too much work attached to the job without sufficient assistance, and that the publication has suffered from lack of advertising, Douds tendered his resignation after hearing that Hunter, sports editor, had quit.

Both men assumed office last spring following the Easter recess. Among the new departments fostered in the paper by the two were a reader's column and a sports column. While comments printed in both these departments drew fire from many among the students, faculty, and alumni, this was not the reason for the resignations, members of the faculty publications committee claimed.

No one has been appointed to either the editorship or the sports editorship by the faculty committee in place of the two who resigned. It is possible that no appointments will be made until following the Thanksgiving recess which starts next Wednesday and ends a week from Tuesday. In the meantime, the next week's issue of the paper will be edited by Douds.

Bandit Trying To Kidnap Construction Official Is Shot To Death In Battle

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Caught in the act of kidnaping a construction company official, an unidentified bandit was shot and killed here today by Patrolman Charles Fox.

Charles Ekberg, of Chicago, superintendent of construction for the Republic Creosoting Company, now working on a new building here, was slightly wounded in the gun battle between the officer and the gunman. He was shot in the leg.

Attempting to capture the fleeing bandit, who had successfully kidnaped Ekberg, Fox fired more than 15 shots as the gunman dodged from tree to tree in an Euclid village woods where the gun battle was staged.

The bandit, undaunted by the gunfire and commands of Fox to halt, stopped occasionally to return the fire as he ran. He was finally hit in the head by one of the officer's bullets and was dead when Fox reached his side.

LIVING MEMORIAL TO TEXAS WAR DEAD

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 20.—A living memorial to Texas war dead—a memorial connecting two famous historical shrines—is the ambitious program of veterans' organizations along that portion of the Old Spanish Trail between here and Houston. The trail stretches from the famous Alamo, where a handful of soldiers fought to the last man against their Mexican attackers, to San Jacinto battlefield, near Houston, where Santa Anna, in command of the Mexican army, was overthrown.

Along this trail the veterans would plant native Texas pecan trees—242,000 of them. One county has pledged its quota of trees, and those in charge of the work are hopeful that all the trees will be planted before spring.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS FIFTY CENTURIES OLD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Infantile paralysis is 50 centuries old, according to Dr. J. P. Leake of the United States public health service.

Dr. Leake told the District Medical society here that the history of the dreaded disease was traceabel as far back as the year 3000 B. C.

While the medical profession has not yet learned the secret of preventing the disease, Dr. Leake declared that much progress has been made in checking its spread after cases have been discovered.

He urged parents to use the utmost care in protecting their children whenever an outbreak of infantile paralysis is reported, as the disease is highly contagious, the germs being taken into the body through the nose and mouth.

New York's "Dapper" Mayor Will Stop Off At South Bend For Football Game

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Mayor James J. Walker will leave late this evening on a dramatic 3,000-mile trans-continental trip to California to make a final plea to Governor James Rolph, Jr., for a pardon for Tom Mooney, labor leader who is serving a life term in San Quentin prison on conviction of participating in the bombing of the preparedness day parade in San Francisco in 1916. Ten persons were killed in the bombing.

The mayor will depart over the New York Central railroad, after his reception of Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, and following a scheduled meeting of the board of estimate this afternoon. He will be accompanied by Attorneys Frank P. Walsh and Aaron Sapiro, and newspaper men. Walsh is senior counsel for Mooney.

Will Watch Irish

Walker's party will stop off at South Bend, Ind., tomorrow afternoon where the mayor will see the Notre Dame football eleven oppose the University of California. After the game, Mayor Walker will leave for Chicago where he will be met by a distinguished delegation interested in the cause of Mooney.

The mayor will catch the Overland Limited out of Chicago Saturday night and will arrive in San Francisco on Tuesday where he will be received by Governor Rolph, who is a personal friend of the mayor. Rolph was mayor of San Francisco at the time of the bombing.

Mayor Walker indicated by his manner and conversation today that he is fired with enthusiasm over his mission in behalf of Mooney. He said he is firmly convinced of Mooney's innocence and will do all he could to correct "the inquiry of his persecution and continued incarceration."

Women's Label League To Feed Hungry Children

Plan Big Feed For Many Of The Needy Children On Thanksgiving Day

Women's Union Label League of this city is making great plans for the Thanksgiving which the organization will serve to children of needy families on Thursday of next week.

Present indications are that there will be several hundred children participate in the dinner, which will be held at the Trades and Labor Assembly Hall.

While it is designed primarily for the children of members of organized labor, who are now out of work and out of funds, yet the ladies are taking in a group of children of families which the Salvation Army has been and is aiding.

And that is not to be the limit, if the ladies find that they can take care of still more. The whole affair is being planned to take care of just as many children of needy families as possible, regardless of whether they are the children of members of organized labor or are being sponsored by The Salvation Army.

Tickets will be issued to those to be served on this occasion and it will be necessary to have that ticket in order to get in on the dinner. As was previously stated it is planned to have as wide a distribution of the tickets as possible.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Just how great some of the changes are that have occurred in the past 50 years in this city can hardly be better illustrated than the changes that have been made concerning the fire department of the city. There are many here who will remember the days when the central fire station was located on East street, immediately to the rear of the city building. It was constructed in 1881 and when put into use it was one of the finest fire departments in this section of the state. It was the center of all activities of the department and housed the most important apparatus of the then fire department of the city. All equipment housed there was, of course, horse drawn, a condition that prevailed for many years after the place was opened up. It was the headquarters of the T. W. Phillips Hose company No. 1 and Vigilant Aerial Hook and Ladder company and the fire police, also the chief of the department. In the old days there were six paid men in addition to the chief on duty there and for many years these men were on duty 24 hours a day. It is recorded that in the winter months, November 1 to April 1, three extra men were employed there. Today, as a result of the central department station being moved to South Jefferson street to accommodate the modern and larger apparatus of the department, the first story rooms that once housed the fire fighting apparatus of the city, are used to house the rather prosaic street department machinery. What the morrow will bring forth no one knows.

Canadian Sales Tax System Is Given Approval

Senators And Representatives Enroute Home After Studying Canadian System

BATTLE LOOMS FOR CONGRESS

(International News Service)

ABOARD SPECIAL CONGRESSIONAL TRAIN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Congress and the people of the United States are going to hear a lot about Canada's sales tax system next winter.

With 65 United States senators and representatives aboard this train, returning today to Washington, D. C., following a week's tour of Canada, the sales tax will be put to the fore in the forthcoming battle over how to balance the federal budget.

These congressmen have studied practical operation of the sales tax at close range. At Ottawa, seat of the Canadian government, they heard from ranking government officials that the tax had been proven a success. That it was comparatively easily administered and one of the most "painless" forms of taxation ever devised.

That the group of lawmakers intends to continue their sifting of the sales tax and see how it may be applied to the United States was indicated by their decision, reached at a private meeting last night in Quebec, to hold further meetings in Washington.

Upon motion of Representative Howard (D) of Nebraska, the group unanimously adopted this course of action.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MRS. JOSEPH NORRIS MURRAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—No woman in the world has a pet which has the costly attention as that of the little white poodle, which answers to "Tobey", owned by Mrs. Joseph Norris Murray.

Mrs. Murray likes pets—and especially this serious-eyed shaggy dog "Tobey," in case you remember your news stories, was the pet of the late Ella Wendel, multi-millionaire spinster, who kept a $2,000,000 yard on Fifth avenue for the dog to play in.

Mrs. Murray—who until her recent marriage was the lovely Miss Isabel G. Koss—was a close friend of the vastly wealthy Miss Wendel.

"Tobey" Bequeathed.

Her father, Charles G. Koss, for years was a trusted friend of Miss Wendel. It was through him, of course, that the friendship grew between Mrs. Murray and the wealthy old lady. And, in the famed Wendel estate at Irvington-on-the-Hudson and various plots of Wendel real estate about New York. Also, "Tobey".

Mrs. Murray on her mother's side is descended from the Foggs and Morrills of New Hampshire and Maine.

She was graduated from that much publicized university which has an asphalt campus—Columbia. Her husband also is a Columbia graduate and has an electrical engineer's degree.

He is New York representative of one of the largest engineering and contracting firms of the Far East.

Mrs. Murray, who has much quiet charm, has never taken as active a part in Manhattan society as she might have taken had she cared more for that sort of thing.

Capacity for Friendship.

Mrs. Murray has great capacity for friendship. One of the things she particularly will be remembered for is what she said right after the death of her close friend, Miss Ella Wendel—

"She was a dear old lady, cultured and kind, who never had a strange shattered romance in her life—any more than I have had."

Mrs. Murray has never liked publicity of any kind. Her wedding was extremely quiet, with little pomp, considering it was that of an heiress. Practically with no fuss'n feathers, the ceremony took place in the quiet chapel of St. Stephen's Episcopal church in New York, with the rector, an old family friend, in charge.

No matter whether or not she tries to hold it Mrs. Murray has a niche all her own in New York society.

Building Trades Workers Fight Proposed Cuts In Wages—Construction Tied Up

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 20.—A delay in all building construction loomed here today as building trades workers struck in protest against proposed wage cuts announced by officials of the Erie Builders Exchange.

Carl Cayton, president of the Building Trades Union, issued an announcement declaring the workers would fight the proposed cuts and would not accept them.

The Builders Exchange proposed the cuts to keep costs in line with what they claim are lower construction cost levels.

A Number Of Accidents On The Streets Of The City Reported To Police

John Pattison of R. D. No. 2, was enroute west on West Grant street, according to the report at the police station Thursday, when a small girl named Custer and about four years of age, in running from the north to the south side of West Grant street, stopped in the middle of the street and was struck by the front bumper of the Pattison machine and knocked to the ground. Her head hit the curb as she fell and she sustained a cut on the left side of the head.

She was removed to the office of a physician, where on examination, it was found that while she had sustained a number of painful injuries, that they were not of a serious nature.

Mrs. W. C. Sankey of 139 East Wallace avenue, was enroute north on Highland avenue Thursday, when a lady driving a car bearing Pennsylvania license L1548, which was following the Sankey machine, ran into and damaged the latter machine.

Arnold Anteau of 828 Stillman street, Toledo, O., reported that as he was driving the truck of O. Hattner & Son of Toledo, into the service station at Grant and Sampson streets, that his machine hit a police patrol call box, tearing the same from the pole on which it was located.

The box was not broken and the Bell Telephone Company was notified and workmen of that company came and placed it back on the pole.

David Peterson of 1309 Wilmington avenue, reported that a woman driving a car bearing Pennsylvania license X6565 in a reckless manner at Norwood and Albert streets, came near hitting a number of the children. This report was verified by the janitor of the Arthur McGill school.

Wave Your Flashlight— The Fairies Will Come

If you have motor trouble out along the highway some night, just stand along the side of the road and wave your flashlight. The good fairies will do the rest. At least the story told by relatives of some New Castle people would lead one to believe so, only the good fairies might be bootleggers. At least their story sounds like it.

It seems that recently, relatives of a New Castle family who reside in Warren, O., were visiting their folks here and returned home late in the evening. The man had not been working and had no money in his pockets. Somewhere along the road between Youngstown and Warren, O., his tire blew out. An examination revealed that it was practically impossible to repair the tire, and he had no money to purchase a new one.

He was pondering his difficulty, when he bethought of his trusty flashlight, which he got out and waved in a circle as motorists approached. Apparently there were none with the instincts of the Good Samaritan, as they passed him up as if he had smallpox. Finally a nice big car whisked up. The stranded motorist waved his flashlight frantically. The big car slid to a stop, and as the motorist came up alongside, a hand was thrust out, and a small package was placed in the man's hand. Then the big car whisked away into the night.

An examination of the package revealed that it was five twenty-dollar bills. The stranded motorist and his wife lost no time in making a hasty exit from the scene. Sounds like a fairy tale but the New Castle folks swear that it is true.

Beaver Falls Seeks Charity Contest

Nothing definite in the way of a charity football game has been done yet by the Athletic Council, although several offers have been received. Beaver Falls, recently restored to good standing with New Castle high school, athletically, is pressing for a post-season charity game, but as yet no decision has been reached.

The school's decision solved tuition, board and room problems of many Utah youths.

Red Cross Roll Call Booths To Be Maintained

Local Citizens Will Have Final Opportunity To Make Contributions

POST OFFICE IS ADDED AS STATION

Members of the Woman's Club will again maintain booths in downtown stores and banks on Saturday for the purpose of assisting with the annual Red Cross Roll Call, and in addition will have a booth in the Post Office, where local citizens will have their last opportunity of subscribing to the Roll Call by this method.

The stations which will be maintained will be in the First National, Peoples Savings and Trust, Citizens National, and Lawrence Savings and Trust Company banks, and New Castle Dry Goods, Higgins Brothers, and Strous-Hirshberg Co. department stores.

Because of the fact that the Red Cross is the national relief agency designated by Congress, they are permitted to maintain a booth in the Post Office lobby for the purpose of soliciting memberships.

Memberships range in price for $1 to $25, fifty cents of each membership, regardless of the size, going to the National organization. Not one cent is given to the national organization from the funds given the Lawrence County Chapter by the Community Chest.

Last year, approximately $1,600 was raised through the Roll Call conducted throughout the county of which amount, $600 was sent to national headquarters, while the balance was used in relief work here in New Castle and Lawrence county.

A deficit of $90 was incurred by the Chapter this year, and with a heavier demand for aid to be met this winter, funds are urgently needed.

To date, the roll call fund is far beneath the amount given last year, and but a few more days remain in which to subscribe, it being imperative to close the roll call campaign on Thanksgiving Day.

Coal By Bushel Must Weigh What State Law Fixes

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Following a conference between Secretary of Internal Affairs Philip H. Dewey and C. J. Cullen, director of the bureau of standards in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs, a decision was reached to back to the limit enforcement of laws relating to the weight of coal. Already a number of prosecutions have been entered in various parts of the State for short weighing and others will follow. An act of the 1931 Sessions of the Legislature increased the weight of bituminous coal from 76 to 80 pounds per bushel and retained the weight of 75 pounds of anthracite to the bushel. Another act provided that a ton of coal shall not weigh less than 2000 pounds.

During this winter, particularly, much coal is being sold by the bushel, many persons being unable to pay for larger quantities. Already, reports have reached the Department of Internal Affairs that some bushels have not carried the correct weight. Secretary Dewey was emphatic in his remarks concerning any tendency on the part of unscrupulous dealers to short weight and accordingly gave instructions that all of the deputy sealers in the bureau of standards make a concerted drive to see to it that full weight is given in all cases.

HERS was the most engaging personality in the crowd. She dressed well—always looked well.

What was her secret of charm and beauty? She took as much care of the inside of her body as of her face and hands. She ate Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines. And Vitamin B to tone them up. Both aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is a good source of iron for the blood.

This delicious cereal is already cooked and krumbled. Two tablespoonfuls daily for most types of constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Avoid constipation. It often causes headaches, loss of pep, pimples, premature aging. Eat ALL-BRAN regularly—either as a cereal, or in cooked dishes. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Vocation Schools Will Have Exhibits

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—The work of Pennsylvania's vocational schools will be illustrated again this year by exhibits at the State Farm Products show, the Department of Public Instruction today announced. Twenty show-window type booths in the walls of the main corridor of the Show Building have been secured for this purpose by the Department's sub-committee on vocational exhibits.

An invitation has been sent to all teachers of vocational agriculture and vocational home making in the State to present plans for exhibits which will illustrate the work of the schools in the two fields. From the plans submitted the best exhibits will be selected to occupy the twenty booths. Judging by the number and character of the plans that are arriving at the department offices there is keen rivalry among the 325 vocational teachers for the honor of placing exhibits.

BEQUEATHED DIMES AS GIFTS TO MOURNERS

(International News Service)

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Nov. 20.—A generosity gesture to his fellow men was carried out by proxy to fulfill the dying wish of A. L. Milburn.

As the 113 mourners passed from the cemetery gate after attending the burial services for Milburn near here, each was given a dime by William Leiter, mortician.

Among other last wishes contained in a memorandum dated September 20, 1931, left by Milburn, was that horses on this farm be shot. Milburn's estate was valued at $15,000.

STOCKS RANCH WITH STARVING UTAH DEER

(International News Service)

LOVELAND, Colo., Nov. 20.—Fred Hyatt, a rancher living in the mountains, has begun stocking a 200-acre pasture with deer brought from the drought area of Utah. Hyatt has brought 15 head by truck from the government preserve near Glendale, 800 miles from here. He expects to return to Utah for more. "There's plenty of room for them on my ranch, and plenty of feed," he said. "They were starving out in Utah. I might sell them later—I don't know."

CANADA TO GROW PRUNES

(International News Service)

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The annual importation of prunes and dried plums into Canada is valued at about $1,000,000. As a result of experiments carried out in recent years at the Canadian Government Experimental Farm at Sidney, B. C., prunes of the best quality have been successfully grown and de-hydrated. This development promises to be of importance to fruit growers on Vancouver Island, for it may mean that eventually prunes grown in British Columbia will find a ready market in Canada.

HISTORIC CABIN FOUND

(International News Service)

ILWACO, Wash.—Lumber from California mills was once shipped to Washington timberlands. In the extension of a local golf links it was discovered in wrecking an obstructing cabin that the entire building was made of red wood, evidently brought by steamer from California. It has been learned that the cabin was constructed by John Crellin in 1850 on his original donation land claim. Ilwaco is located in one of the heaviest lumbering districts of the Pacific Northwest.

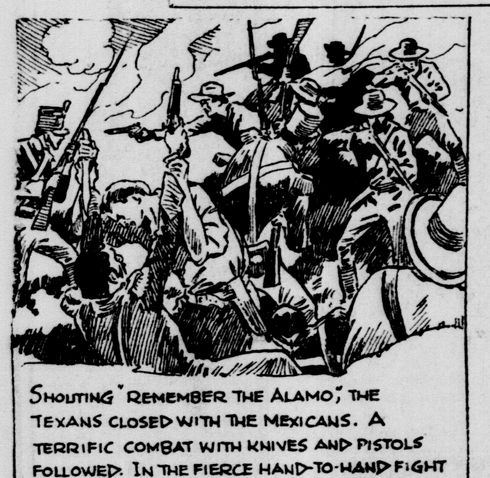
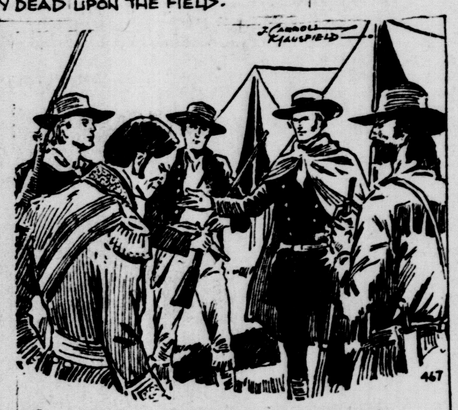
The Texans—17. The Battle Of San Jacinto

INFORMED BY HIS SCOUTS OF SANTA ANNA'S UNPREPAREDNESS, SAM HOUSTON WAS QUICK TO SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY TO STRIKE HIS FOE OFF GUARD. THE SUN WAS SINKING ON APRIL 21, 1836, WHEN THE TEXAN ARMY MOVED SILENTLY AND SWIFTLY TO SURPRISE THE MEXICAN CAMP.

SCREENED BY THE WOODS, THE TEXANS HAD ALMOST REACHED THE ENEMY'S CAMP BEFORE THEIR APPROACH WAS OBSERVED. THE MEXICANS HASTILY FORMED A BATTLE LINE, BUT WERE SOON THROWN INTO CONFUSION BY THE SHOCK AND FEROCITY OF THE TEXAN ATTACK.



SHOUTING "REMEMBER THE ALAMO," THE TEXANS CLOSED WITH THE MEXICANS. A TERRIFIC COMBAT WITH KNIVES AND PISTOLS FOLLOWED. IN THE FIERCE HAND-TO-HAND FIGHT SANTA ANNA'S ARMY WAS CUT TO PIECES. WHEN THE SMOKE OF BATTLE LIFTED, 630 MEXICANS LAY DEAD UPON THE FIELD.



ONLY FIFTY OF SANTA ANNA'S 1200 MEN ESCAPED FROM THE FIGHT. ALL THE REST, INCLUDING THE DICTATOR HIMSELF, FELL INTO THE HANDS OF THE VICTORIOUS TEXANS.

UNION HIGH SET FOR GAME AT YOUNGSTOWN

County Champions Will Get Test In Game With East High Saturday Afternoon

Eleven Seniors Will Play Last Game For Union —Joe Jaworski Is Crippled

Union high school football team is resting today for the strenuous battle that is looked for tomorrow afternoon at Memorial high field in Youngstown when Union goes to engage East high of Youngstown in a grid contest. The game will start at 1 o'clock and is the first game of a double header for the Youngstown field.

Coach "Morg" Boyd has his Union team in tiptop shape. The boys are confident of making a fine showing against the older and more experienced East high team. On paper East high looks like a safe bet. Union will have to open up with all their tricks and forward passes to snatch the victory. East's powerful line will probably stop Union's line thrusts.

The "break" may decide the battle and Union will be looking for them. Joe Jaworski, the star Union halfback, is on the crippled list and Coach Boyd is somewhat worried, but he hopes to have Jaworski in the game for a while tomorrow anyhow.

Final Game for Eleven.

The Youngstown game is the final one of the year for Union and consequently the final scholastic game for 11 seniors on the Union team. The Union boys to hang up the moleskins following the East game are: Joe Jaworski, stellar halfback; Joe Augustyn (both Augustyn and Jaworski are former Union captains, Jaworski in 1929 and Augustyn in 1930), Ammons, Denney, Louis Augustyn, Davies, Lannigan, Reynolds, Mateja, Dec and Davidson. Davidson and Reynolds are the only players on the graduating senior team that have not had three years of playing. It is going to be hard to replace these boys.

Coach Boyd will lineup his team tomorrow as follows: Davies and Lannigan at ends, Dec and Endres at tackles, Captain Sniezek and Allen at guards, Phillips at center, L. Augustyn at quarterback, Monico and Georgacz at halfback and Joe Augustyn at fullback.

Boyd is not worried about the line. The boys gave a good performance last Saturday against the powerful Bessemer line. Union's success Saturday depends on whether or not Jaworski will be able to play.

Quite a large crowd of fans will follow the Union high team to Youngstown for the game.

Fuller Coaches Frosh Gridders

Titan Senior Drills First-Year Team For Coming Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 20—Richard Fuller, South Milwaukee, Wis., a senior at Westminister College, is coaching the freshman class football team which plays the sophomores in the annual battle on the college field next Tuesday afternoon.

FULLER

Fuller has won three letters in football, playing a guard position for the last three years. Toward the start of the season he broke his foot in a game and has not been able to play since. The plaster cast has been removed from his foot, and he is able to get around the field quickly enough to give the frosh some football pointers.

Fuller has also won letters in varsity track, competing in the weight events. He is a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity, and has been on the honor roll.

Dukes-Tech Are Setting Stage For Grid Game

Charity Game In Pittsburgh Expected To Draw Upwards Of 50,000 People

By VIC JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 20.—Arrangements have finally been completed enabling Duquesne University to test the wares of a highly-touted local rival, Carnegie Tech. The teams are scheduled to meet on December 5, in the Pitt stadium for benefit of the unemployed, which marks the inauguration of the long sought triumvirate athletic relations between Pittsburgh's institutions of learning.

Since the signing of Elmer Layden, a member of the famous four horsemen, as head football coach, Duquesne has rapidly risen from a lowly state to a position inciting fear of defeat into the best of its class "A" gridiron opponents. In the current and recent years, they have beaten Washington & Jefferson, tied Western Maryland, West Virginia U. and Georgetown, and held Holy Cross to two touchdowns. Considering these as well as the fact that teams of the class "B" group, from which they graduated a short while ago, are unable to make even a fair showing against them, the Dukes are very deserving of the honors bestowed upon them.

Very Good Records

Selving into recorded results, to date Duquesne shows more losses than victories, but, like Carnegie, they have been morally triumphant in their major contests; tieing or holding to a puny advantage, elevens rated far superior to theirs.

Services of the stadium and all equipment is being donated by the University of Pittsburgh, and a turn-out, approximated at 50,000 is expected. A win for Carnegie Tech is heard among the early predictions, but anxiety of the Laydenites to demonstrate they merit their position may prove disasterious to the Skibos.

Both Pitt and Tech have basketball games carded with Duquesne for this winter, while the Panthers and Dukes meet in 1932 for football.

Canzoneri And Chocolate Will Fight Tonight

Tony Canzoneri Is Favored To Take Title In Bout With Chocolate

BOTH BOYS ARE HARD PUNCHERS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Tony Canzoneri, a real fighting champion, should defeat Kid Chocolate, Cuban sharpshooter, in their 15-round "triple title" bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Both boys are terrific hitters, but Canzoneri has been installed a 2 to 1 favorite because of his superior stamina and judgment of pace over the championship route.

The bout is unique in that at least two and probably three world's titles will be at stake. Canzoneri will be defending his lightweight and junior welterweight crowns. If Canzoneri scales down to 130 pounds by 2 o'clock this afternoon, and it seemed probable this morning that he would, Chocolate's 130-pound or junior lightweight title will be at stake.

Seeks Fourth Title.

If Tony makes 130 pounds and wins he will become the first fighter in history to win four titles. He previously held the featherweight championship.

Some fistic observers believe Canzoneri will lose on points unless he scores a knockout inside of five rounds. But that was what they said just before Tony fought Jack Kid Berg here this summer. The Italian fooled the experts and won on points, and he probably will do the same thing tonight.

Chocolate, the first colored fighter to get a crack at the lightweight title in 14 years, never has been knocked out. A master boxer but strictly a counter fighter, he is not at his best against an opponent who keeps rushing in and throwing leather. And Canzoneri is a boy who does plenty of crowding.

Dozen Football Games Of Importance Carded For State On Saturday

Villanova And Georgetown Game Looms As Most Attractive

Geneva-Westminster At Beaver Falls—Lehigh And Lafayette To Meet

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Sports Writer.

Only a sprinkling of collegiate football clashes dot Pennsylvania gridirons this Saturday.

With the better half of the Keystone state's grid squads battling on out-of-state grounds, or inactive because of Thanksgiving Day games, a round dozen contests will be played in Pennsylvania Saturday.

Coach Stuhldrefer drilled his Villanova charges consistently in offensive plays during the week in preparation for the Georgetown game. Offensive attack of the Wildcats has been lacking somewhat in recent games.

The contest will be the last for seven members of the Villanova squad. Of this number, six will see action against Georgetown. Captain Ed Kobilis, veteran guard who was injured in the clash with Duke several weeks ago, will not play against Georgetown. A fair record has been made this season by the Georgetown eleven and Coach Stuhldreher has drilled the Wildcats intensively in an attempt to repeat last season's performance when Villanova defeated Georgetown, 13 to 0. Villanova is favored in the match.

One of the best defensive elevens in the east, Lafayette will enter the game with Lehigh in a determined effort to keep the 19 points which have been scored against McCracken's Maroon eleven at 19 points. Only Colgate and Penn, two of the ranking teams of the east, have scored against Lafayette.

While Lafayette has drilled strenuously for the match, Lehigh too has undergone intensive preparation for the meet. Because of its superior defense and an improved attack, however, Lafayette is expected to win.

Geneva-Westminster.

Geneva should have little trouble in overthrowing Westminster at Beaver Falls. The football squad of Indiana Teachers college will find a hard foe in Shippensburg.

St. Joseph gridsters should defeat Washington at Philadelphia. St. Thomas meets an unknown foe in U. S. Destroyer. Dickinson is favored in the match with Muhlenberg at Easton. Juniata should find little trouble in overthrowing Waynesburg. The game between Grove City and Thiel at Grove City is a toss-up.

Haverford, by virtue of a surprising change in practice sessions, is expected to bowl over Delaware. St. Vincent should have little trouble in defeating New River at Latrobe.

Yale Will Have New Grid Coach For Next Season

Report Head Coach Stevens Will Be Replaced By Adam Walsh Formerly Of Notre Dame

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—Signals were being called here Thursday for a general shift play in the Yale athletic coaching lineup. Reliable but unofficial reports were that Dr. Marvin A. Stevens, head football coach, will wave goodbye to his job at the close of the present season, that a Notre Dame man will be installed in Stevens' place, and that other changes all along the line will be effected before Christmas comes.

Best available information was that Adam Walsh, former Notre Dame star and present line coach at Yale, will ascend to the head coach position, or that another Notre Dame man not now on the Yale staff but who has made a success of coaching elsewhere will be named if the Walsh appointment does not materialize. Stevens, whose contract expires this year, will quit football to practice medicine.

Joyce Wins By Technical K. O.

Blow In Fifth Round Fractured Jaw Of Tommy Ulrey

If ability to hit means anything Billy Joyce, lightweight in the stable of Jimmie Dime, will get some place as he turned in another victory last night when he scored a technical knockout over Tommy Ulrey in the fifth of a scheduled six-round bout at Youngstown. Joyce's blow fractured Ulrey's jaw and the referee stopped the battle. It was only a few weeks ago that Joyce upset the dope bucket by flooring Johnny Kusic several times and romping off with the award.

Because the University of Southern California grid eleven have shown their superiority in Western football circles, despite an upset by St. Mary's, they have been selected to defend Coast honors in the New Year's Day classic at Pasadena. Mose Butch and Jackie Rodgers, Pittsburgh, have been matched for a 10-round bout here one week from tonight. They fought a sensational battle at Pittsburgh recently.

Cadet John A. Beall, Jr., of Jacksonville, Texas, was elected yesterday to captain Army's undefeated Plebe football team. He is a tackle, 19 years old and played at Allen academy, Bryan, Texas, before becoming a cadet.

Harry (Socks) Seibold, Boston National league pitcher, was operated on yesterday at Allentown, Pa. He had his appendix removed. Attending physicians report Seibold as doing nicely.

Still Play On Municipal Links

Course Manager Hart States That Fairways And Greens Are In Fine Shape

Course Manager "Hub" Hart at the Muny links stated today that many golfers are still coming out for a round of the ancient Scotch game. He has had many inquiries from people wanting to know whether they can still play or not.

No orders against playing have been issued, Hart stated, and people wishing to play may do so. He states that the fairways and greens are really in better shape right now than they were this summer, particularly on the first nine holes. The recent rains have caused the grass to come along nicely.

Football Season Is Drawing To Finish

Three Games Are Outstanding In Country Tomorrow—Season Is About Over

Notre Dame And Southern California And Harvard And Yale Will Headline

By EDDIE CASEY
Former All-America Half-back And Now Head Football Coach At Harvard

(Written For And Copyrighted 1931 By International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 20.—Three football games are outstanding on tomorrow's schedule, which for the most of the country's teams marks the end of the long trail which started early in September.

Harvard and Yale play at Cambridge and Southern California and Notre Dame at South Bend. Stanford and California will meet on the Pacific coast.

Yale And Harvard

Here in the East, there will be high interest in the 50th game played between the Crimson and the Blue elevens.

Harvard has the better mathematical record of the rivals, and by that I mean that the difference of a point here and there has brought Capt. Barry Wood's team to the eve of the Yale game, undefeated and untied. Wood has been responsible to a great extent for the previous successes of his team. He is a wonderful boy, an exceptional captain, a great passer, a sure drop kicker and to my mind an outstanding quarterback.

Yale has been defeated once, that by Georgia in an early season game. Since then Yale has tied Army and Dartmouth. The team goes to its Harvard game well rested. It has veteran ends, a good line and good line replacements and a flock of good backs.

It is not for me to predict who will win this game.

Irish-Southern California

The Notre Dame and Southern California game will bring together two of the country's outstanding teams. Notre Dame has been tied by Northwestern but is undefeated. Southern California in early season was defeated by St. Mary's.

Notre Dame has lost its good fullback George Melinkovich, which would be something any other coach but a Notre Dame coach probably would worry about. Football history has shown however that Notre Dame has an amazing ability to send well groomed substitutes in for star regulars in such cases.

There seems no way in which to compare the teams. My admiration for Notre Dame football, and the ability of Notre Dame teams to pull games out of the fire, prompts the feeling that Hunk Anderson's team will win. On the other hand, Southern California must have an exceptional team.

Stanford-California

Out on the coast that Stanford-California game looms as one of the best of the year. Stanford has been beaten only by Southern California. California, coached by Bill Ingram, and schooled from the beginning of the season in sound funadmentals, has made rapid progress. It is likely that this game will be a close one.

Aside from those games, there are other scattered contests which have tremendous sectional interest. Tulane, which with Tennessee ranks as representative of the best of Southern football will play Sewanee and does not expect to have much difficulty maintaining its perfect record. Georgia which was undefeated until it struck Tulane a week ago will play Alabama Poly and should swing back on the victory path.

Navy-Southern Methodist

The Southern Methodist team which is undefeated in the Southwest section comes north to meet Navy. Navy has not been as strong as in some recent seasons and Southern Methodist may repeat its victory of a year ago.

In the Western Conference Michigan plays Minnesota, Indiana meets Purdue and Chicago faces Wisconsin. The Michigan-Minnesota game probably will be a close one.

Michigan would seem to have a slight edge. Wisconsin carries more punch than Chicago and should win. Indiana's great 7-6 game against Northwestern, the latter winning, after a previously spotty record throws a shadow across its game with Purdue. Indiana has the edge.

Geneva-Titans Ready To Play Charity Battle

Westminster Will Be Attraction At Reeves Stadium Beaver Falls Tomorrow

FINAL GAME FOR SIX COVENANTORS

BEAVER FALLS, Nov. 20.—Geneva's final 1931 football game will be a charity game Saturday with Westminster with proceeds going to the Welfare Fund here. The Genevans originally tried to book W and J for a special charity game but the Wash-Jeff athletic council voted down the project. Failing in this endeavor the Covenanters agreed to use the season's fadeout game for the benefit of the poor.

Harpster and Lovewell are taking no chances with their squad in tackling the work that lies ahead. The Titans invade Reeves Stadium unable to point to any stellar records for the year but their work of late has been the type to worry the Geneva mentors. Last week the Lawthermen downed Edinboro in a fashion that has bolstered Westminster hopes that the New Wilmington team might spring an upset here Saturday. The Class B and Tri-State conference grid championships are at stake so a win means plenty to the Beaver Falls school.

Grahame At Quarter.

Grahame returned to action against Allegheny after a long absence and may start as first string field general in place of Troiano. Heffley's flash of 1930 form in the running back assignment against the Gators may elevate him to the job ahead of Clyde Johnson, the rugged freshman from Toledo.

Six individuals will be making their final appearance in football for Geneva College when the Harpster-Lovewell machine contests Westminster at Reeves Stadium here this Saturday. The departing grads include Captain "Slim" Ransom, Art Weigle, Ray Turpin, George Johnston, Kent Sole and "Tuck" McConnel. All but Weigle are members of the Lovewell handled forward wall. Ransom and Sole will remain to direct their energies for Geneva basketball and track and field but for the others it means the complete termination of a college athletic career.

Three First Stringers.

Of the six Ransom, Weigle and Turpin are current first stringers. The first named is considered by many the best center in the district and among Conference pivots stands out head and shoulders above his rivals. Turpin has been going great guns of late and was the line star of last Saturday's tussle with Allegheny. Weigle winds up a competent three year period of service as a fullback. All three served under Flenniken prior to the start of the Harpster regime. George Johnston was a regular tackle two years ago but under Harpster has served mainly as a utility man. McConnel has been employed on the squad as a relief tackle and relief blocking back. Sole started the year as the varsity right end but injuries forced his withdrawal from competition.

The game here Saturday will be a feature of Home-coming day for Geneva Alumni. After the game the grads will hold a banquet at the Broadhead hotel at which time the Geneva mentors will be the main speakers. Proceeds from the Geneva-Westminster game will go toward the Beaver Falls Welfare Fund. A win for Geneva will earn retention of the Class B and Tri-State Conference football championships.

Lawless And Rose Scheduled To Battle 10 Rounds At Bowl

KLAUS TO HANDLE JOHNNY MOUNTEBANNO

Bucky Lawless and Billy Rose, welterweights who are scheduled to battle 10 rounds tonight at the Castle bowl, are awaiting the bell and the fans who have not seen a fistic battle for several weeks are awaiting the clash. The principals in the grand finale of a show that will contain four bouts or 28 rounds of boxing arrived here early today.

Lawless and Rose appeared to be in fine physical condition. Each expressed confidence in his ability to cop the verdict. On form Lawless will rule the favorite when the bell rings, owing to his having met several ring champions. Rose has been coming along in fairly good style and is reported to be a slugger who can give and assimilate.

They weighed in at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the bowl. Bebe Biondi, deputy of Commissioner Havey Boyle, was in charge of this phase of the battle. In addition to Lawless and Rose theo ther six fighters on the bill weighed in and Promoter Meyers announced Bobby Stewart of Chicago would fight Frankie Stellmack in the six-round semi-final.

Stewart, according to Chicago reports, has won from Joey Thomas, who beat Johnny Datto at Pittsburgh. In another six-rounder Johnny Mountebanno, Pittsburgh, will tackle Eddie Flick of Oil City, and in the opening setto Bobby Rowe and Petey John, Pittsburghers, will engage in a return six-round battle. Rose is a southpaw.

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion, and George Chip, also the ex-champ of middleweights, will lend color to the event. Klaus will second Johnny Mountebanno and Chip will referee. It was from Klaus that Chip cautured the middleweight championship at Pittsburgh.

The first bout tonight will start at 8:45.

Three Families Remain In Old Mining Town

Mine Closed For More Than A Year May Be Re-opened

SHAFIER, Texas, Nov. 20.—The mine where General Shafter and his fellow officers "took silver wealth from the grass roots," half a century ago, may be reopened. Closed more than a year ago by its owners, the American Metal Company, the mine still contains silver and, some say, gold.

Only the trees are cared for in this abandoned town and all but three of the employes of the mine have moved away. When the price of silver went down and the mine was closed. Shafter's heart almost quit beating.

There was no light plant, no power, and no water for gardens. Three hundred people left Mexicans, who lived in adobe houses, took the doors, windows and roofs with them, and the sun-dried dirt walls are crumbling away.

Around them the trees flourish, watered carefully by company order. On the company's desire to keep the trees alive, and the reports that gold was found before the shutdown, the three families here base their hope for a re-opening. They believe that if the price of silver was a little higher, the metal company would reopen the mine.

The mine and town were named for the famous general, to whom a wandering freighter brought the first nugget of silver, picked up at a random campsite. Shafter and other officers became interested and helped develop the mine.

Fans Seem To Favor Washington Hi Floor

Fans who like their basketball appear to favor the New Castle high school cagers using the George Washington Junior high floor this season instead of the Senior high school gymnasium. Thursday evening in the issue of The News a coupon was printed on the sport page and fans were asked to fill in the coupon, selecting one of the two floors. Early this morning a few coupons had already reached the Sports Desk.

The fans who participated in the poll of sentiment appeared to favor the George Washington high floor. Although the Athletic Council will have the "say" on whichever floor the high school passers will use, this poll of sentiment is being held merely to see what the fans favor.

It isn't too late to mail or send a coupon in. Just fill the coupon on this page and mark your "X" for whichever floor you like. Then sign your name and address and mail or send to the Scholastic Sports Editor of The News.

Jack Blundo of 529 East Long avenue was the first ardent fan to send in a coupon.

'PHONE BOOK SHOWS NAMES OF FAME

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 20.—A casual glance through the new St. Louis telephone book would lead one to believe that many of the famous figures of history are now residents of St. Louis.

There are Napoleons and Wellingtons here, those famous generals of a century ago. There are Cervantes and Conrads, but the St. Louis residents are not the ones who wrote "Don Quixote," or "Youth". There is a Thomas Jefferson, a namesake of the famous American statesman; a Charles Rogers, but it's not the "Buddy" from Hollywood. In aviation there is a Clarence Chamberlain, and in boxing, there is a John Tunney.

There are four Frees, eight Freedmans, and 49 Freemans, in addition to four Libertys.

NEW TIN "AIR SOCK" IS BEING TESTED

LANSING, Mich., Nov. 20.—A new kind of "air sock", made of tin, is being tried out at the local airport here.

Six feet long with a throat of two feet, the sock registers the wind direction for incoming flyers in a four-mile breeze. The advantage of the tin over the customary cloth sock lies in its durability, since a cloth signal frequently whips itself to shreds in a strong wind, it was pointed out.

It is believed the new type may prove practical for emergency landing fields which are being planned since it will not require frequent replacement.

Good Grid Tilts On Week-End List, Says Sutherland

Jock Thinks Minnesota, Syracuse, Ohio, Georgia Will Cop

By JOCK SUTHERLAND
Pittsburgh Football Coach
Written For Central Press And New Castle News

Traditional games generally make up the major portion of the football battles throughout the country on the third Saturday in November. And with many of these battles, a number of schedules are brought to a close.

Of course, many of the college elevens which close their seasons Saturday will indulge in specially carded games during the two weeks following for the benefit of the unemployed.

As we look over the fine attractions scheduled for the coming week-end we are at a loss to pick the probable victor in several instances.

* * *

Yale-Harvard—Bottle up young Mr. Barry Wood, Old Eli, and the game is yours—but you are going to have a busy afternoon. It looks like the Crimson will finish the season undisputed champion of the east.

Columbia-Syracuse—At the kick-off you will probably find the odds very slightly favoring the Lion. But the Orange are due for a comeback after the Colgate rout of last week and Syracuse is my team for the day.

Georgetown-Villanova—My choice is Villanova, but it is going to be a very interesting tussle until the final whistle blows.

Fordham-Bucknell—Fordham by a two-touchdown margin.

Lehigh-Lafayette— The Maroon should carry off the honors in this sixty-fifth meeting between these schools. Yet, Lafayette by 18 points.

* * *

Army-Ursinus—Army, of course!

Navy-Southern Methodists— The Mustangs, undefeated to date, should have a fairly easy romp with the Middies.

Michigan-Minnesota— Minnesota should win this battle, but only after a tough afternoon.

Illinois-Ohio State—The Buckeyes over weak Illini.

Nebraska-Iowa State—The Cornhuskers after a stubborn battle.

Missouri-Kansas—Kansas, but it will be close.

Notre Dame-Southern California—The game, the feature battle of the country is now an intersectional tradition. The battle will be tough throughout, but I am playing safe and betting on the Irish.

Detroit-Michigan State— Tossup. You name the winner, I can't.

Stanford-California—Don't be surprised when I side with Bill Ingram's Bears, for California is better than you think!

Georgia Tech-Florida—The 'Gators from Florida.

Rice-Arkansas — Arkansas should win.

2,500,000 MATCHES TO BUILD CATHEDRAL

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 20.—More than 2,500,000 matches were used by Hans Swoboda, 17-year-old builder of Westphalia, Germany, in constructing a miniature reproduction of the famous Cathedral of Cologne. The model which took young Swoboda over a period of three years to build, has attracted thousands at an exhibition here.

The model, declared by leading architects and engineers as an exact replica of the famed cathedral, will be shown at various exhibits throughout the world.

Swoboda accompanies his work and is continually stormed by young students of high schools, architectural schools and colleges to explain his masterpiece.

The youthful builder declared he was inspired to build a model of the cathedral after reading of Rodin's work on cathedrals in France and a monograph on the Cathedral of Cologne.

CHIMNEY BURNS

No damage was reported in a small chimney fire at the home in the frame home of C. R. Boston, 510 East Washington street last night. Four fire companies responded.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Written Exclusively for Central Press and New Castle News.

Another football season draws to a close with only nine unbeaten and untied teams visible to the naked eye, no matter how hard and how long you peer into the record.

And some of these may pass out of the picture before the football books are definitely closed. Probably half—if you can cut nine into half—will drop by the wayside before December.

The nine are Tulane, Tennessee, Harvard, Southern Methodist, Muskingum, Westminster, Louisiana Tech, Maryville and Oklahoma City.

* * *

Harvard must get by Yale—always a stiff chore for the Johnnies, no matter how they manhandle early rivals. Tennessee must cage the Kentucky Wildcat, not too easy a task. Tlulane has two easy ones—Sewanee and Louisiana—and then a tough foe in Washington State to get by before the Green Wave is all washed up.

So much for the big fellows.

Muskingum has finished with its season. And if the guide book isn't kidding, so have Westminster and Maryville.

Oklahoma City must get past Nebraska Wesleyan and Louisiana Tech will have to trounce Louisiana college before these two teams can conclude unbeaten and untied campaigns.

* * *

Anyone hardy enough to venture the opinion that Muskingum with eight games won and none lost has a good claim on the national title or at least part of it probably would be the recipient of leaden missiles from outraged Harvard, Tulane, Tennessee and Southern Methodist adherents.

But why not?

Granted Muskingum's schedule did not call for tiffs with Notre Dame, Northwestern, Southern California and Pittsburgh, but neither did the exalted quartet.

How many of the four big unbeaten teams could survive a set of scraps with the Irish, the Wildcats, the Trojans and the Panthers? Correct! Tulane would seem to have the best chance, but even the great Green team could hardly hope to beat that powerful quartet.

* * *

That Rose Bowl game between Southern California and an unbeaten eleven from the eastern watershed (it probably will be Tulane) would be far more attractive if that unbeaten team could list Irish or Wildcat or Panther in its roster of fallen enemies.

If only football schedules could be mapped out by an astronomer maybe some day we'd have a gridiron champion whose right to the throne no one could dispute!

St. Andrew's Team Holds Fine Practice

The St. Andrews church basketball team held a fine workout last night at the Lincoln-Garfield gym. The practice was attended by twenty candidates for the team. VIENNESE VOTE FOR CHINESE OPERETTA

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—Franz Lehar had a lucky inspiration when he composed the "Land of Smiles". This Chinese operetta is by far the most popular music in this country, as proved by a recent competition among the readers of the most prominent Austrian wireless magazine as to what were the most popular items in the Vienna broadcasting program. Certain other operettas and concerts had to be content with the second and third places, while political and clerical lectures were the least popular.

It is interesting to note that English lessons, broadcast by the Vienna station, won a prominent place in this competition, and have quite eclipsed the French, which was formerly dominant among foreign languages in Austria. English and American authors are also very popular. G. B. Shaw, John Galsworthy, Sinclair Lewis, and of course Edgar Wallace being the great favorites at present.

Should G. B. S. write a Chinese comedy, he would become the most popular author in Vienna.

It is often harder work to explain to someone how to do a job than to do it yourself.

ELLWOOD WILL PLAY AMBRIDGE SATURDAY

Game Will Be Played At Ambridge Field As Relief Fund Benefit

Ellwood High In Good Shape —Hopes To Close Season With Win

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 20.—Coaches Howard Gills and Todd Lloyd announced that Ellwood High is primed for their invasion of Ambridge Saturday afternoon which will ring down the curtain for both teams' grid season. The game is for the benefit of the unemployed of Ambridge. A crowd of nearly 10,000 is expected to watch the two school boy elevens fight it out.

Without doubt Ellwood in its present form could have stopped some of their earlier opponents. The team has come along splendidly in the past two weeks and the coaches now are under the impression that it has reached its peak form.

Tuesday's and Wednesday's workouts featured scrimmage in which the varsity looked good. Their blocking, clipping, and interference was infallible and the tackling was almost deadly. It was apparent that the boys were trying with heart and might to prepare themselves for Saturday's tussle. A victory for Ellwood would be a splendid stimulant for a gridiron revival next year and the local boys have done everything in their power to present the strongest competition to the Rubenstein machine which next to Midland is rated the strongest in the valley.

All week, Ellwood has been preparing a satisfactory defense for Ambridge's running attack and at the same time improving their aerial game which had come in as a lifesaver in several contests. Ambridge has a heavy team which uses the Pitt system of play. The locals are rather doubtful as to whether they will be able to stop Rubenstein's inside tackle, off tackle, and over center plays. Definite steps have been taken to check these if possible.

Ellwood is in the pink of condition and has been looking towards this contest. No injuries have occurred in this week's workouts and the team will be at its full strength. No workout will be held today due to the Ellwood Reserves-Zelienople game at 4 p. m. All of Ellwood's cripples are expected to be in condition to do battle before game time.

Great respect is held here for Ambridge's powerful eleven which has lost only one contest in two seasons. Some of its victories against teams that the Blue and White have played, were not as impressive. The locals were several touchdowns better against Monaca than Ambridge was and also made a better showing against Rochester. Rubenstein's machine holds the edge over Ellwood in holding Aliquippa to a scoreless tie, to whom Ellwood lost by one touchdown.

One of the largest delegations of students and fans is expected to accompany the home team to Ambridge on Saturday. Student tickets in the local school are going like hot cakes and a sell out is expected. Reports received here stated that more police protection has been secured to handle the crowd.

Both teams are anxious to close their season with a victory and will strive with might and main towards this goal. Ambridge is not under rating the blue and white machine which has caused some upsets. On the contrary they are expecting the toughest game of the season. Due to injuries Ambridge will not be at their full strength. Joe Perricelli their fleet halfback is definitely out with a leg injury and Gutowski with a bad hip.

The probable lineup:

Ellwood		Ambridge
Neff	L. E.	W. Weber
Welsh	L. T.	Tressler
Paal	L. G.	Cnyzewski
Cavalier	C.	Gutowski
A. Wilson	R. G.	Karakitsos
Vogt	R. T.	Hlista
Butler	R. E.	Bedzek
R. Wilson	Q.	Michelosen
Vanderillo	L. H.	Czulak
Frisk	R. H.	M. Weber

NO UNEMPLOYMENT AMONG MINISTERS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—England has no unemployment problem in one field, at least—the ministry.

There are in England 1,139 parishes with no curates, and the number of clergymen in the country is steadily declining. The refusal of young men to join the ministry is looked upon by church officials as merely reflecting a trend away from the church.

There are now 2,308 fewer clergy than in 1905, 1,435 fewer than in 1914 and 417 fewer than in 1923. Last year the number of candidates for ordination was 503, but bishops say that an average of 630 per year for the next ten years is required to care for the country's spiritual needs.

Parishes with large populations are the poorest staffed, it is said. Church leaders are encouraging the greater use of the lay ministry and deaconesses to decrease the duties of the overworked clergy.

Facts On Ellwood City Shown In Survey Report

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 20.—Published herewith is the first of a series of installments of a "Survey Report of the Public Schools of Ellwood City, Pa." by Superintendent of Schools, W. Ray Smith through which courtesy this series is available for public use.

The Borough Of Ellwood City

Ellwood City is located in Western Pennsylvania in the counties of Beaver and Lawrence, the greater part being in Lawrence County. It lies along the Connoquenessing Creek about 1½ miles up stream from its junction with the Beaver River. It is 38 miles north of Pittsburgh, 95 miles south east of Cleveland, and is 15 miles east of the Pennsylvania, Ohio state line.

It is located along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and is also served by the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroads. State highway routes number 288, 388 and 488 offer excellent means of motor transportation. It has bus lines to Wurtemburg, Wampum, New Castle, and Pittsburgh.

The city was founded in 1890 by the Pittsburgh Company, a real estate development concern and was named for one of its chief stock holders, Colonel James Ellwood. In its early days it was a resort center, but very soon became an active industrial center instead, with a continuous and steady growth.

At the present time Ellwood City has an incorporated area of two square miles with a population of 12,321, as shown by the 1930 United States Census report. The real estate valuation for 1930 taxation purposes was $7,730,000.00 or approximately thirty per cent of its total value. The total bonded indebtedness for school and city purposes is $729,000.00 of which $320,000.00 is for city purposes and $409,000.00 is for school purposes. The aggregate 1930 tax levy for city, school and county purposes was 59 mills.

The municipal improvements consist of forty miles of streets of which fifteen are hard surfaced, a complete sanitary sewerage system with two sewage disposal plants and a surface drainage system which is combined with the sanitary system in some sections.

The fire loss for 1930 averaged 75 cents per capita, which is considered low for an industrial community. The water supply comes from the Slippery Rock Creek, a stream fed by springs, which is filtered, chemically treated, and pumped to a reservoir, so located as to give an average static pressure of one hundred pounds. The storage capacity of the reservoir is six million gallons, which is supplied by two pumps of a rated capacity of three million gallons per pump each twenty-four hour period. Under normal conditions the average daily consumption is 2¾ million gallons.

Ellwood City has seven schools with an enrollment of approximately 3800 pupils, with a Junior-Senior High School enrollment of 1800 pupils. To those who wish to live in Ellwood City and have their children attend a college, Geneva College, Westminster College, Grove City College, and Slippery Rock State College are all within about an hour's drive over improved highways. It is also possible to attend the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie School of Technology and others in the Pittsburgh territory by commuting on the railroad.

There are approximately twenty churches of practically every denomination in the city and the immediate vicinity.

In 1928 Ellwood City had 33 industrial plants. There were 3645 industrial workers. The annual pay roll amounted to $7,480,600.00. The manufactured products amounted to $31,796,000.00. The principal products of Ellwood City's industries include—seamless steel tubing, wire, wire nails, gravity conveyors, enamel iron signs, forgings and car parts, steel drums, castings, machinery, mill rolls, brick, crank shafts, cotter pins, concrete blocks, agricultural lime, auto chains, etc.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Featureless Trading In Stock Market Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—With few exceptions the market favorites sagged off to slightly lower prices in dull and featureless trading this morning. Better support was accorded the active rails and utilities, while the specialties like Western Union and Woolworth continued their downward move. United States Steel was again under pressure and fell off to 63⅜, only 1¼ points above the low level of the bear market.

Stocks paid little attention to such outside factors as the $56,000,000 decrease in brokers' loans, and the new reparation move by Germany. A dearth of buying demand, rather than heavy unloading of speculative stocks, was responsible for the reactionary tone of the market favorites. Wheat and Corn set the downward pace for grain prices, and Silver was dull and lower.

New York Central dipped fractionally to 39½ at the opening, but pushed ahead to 40¾ in the second hour under fairly active trading. New Haven was in good call around 31. Atchison and Union Pacific fell off about 2 points each.

"What became of that clerk you had here?"

"I had to fire him. A man came with his bride to buy a book for reading on his honeymoon, and the stupid assistant offered her 'Travels with a Donkey.'"

STILL, IT'S LOOKING UP

"How's business, old man?"

"Oh, it's looking up, but it's in no danger at present of getting a crick in its neck."
